

HIGH SCHOOL 'ANNEXATION' ELECTION SATURDAY

Pool opening depends upon weather man

Young people of Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect and Palatine are wishing for warmer weather, likewise the swimming pool staff at Arlington Heights recreation park.

The pool was filled last week, but the colder the weather, the colder is the water. Friday was tentatively set as the official date for the opening and pool activities were arranged on the assumption that the weather man would heed the pleas of the swimmers. If the weather warms up the pool will be at least open Saturday or Sunday.

RED CROSS is sending Mrs. Espinhe at its expense, to assist the park district and Mr. Vokac in giving instruction in swimming and life saving. Mrs. Espinhe will give free swimming instruction from 1:30 to 2:30 every day.

With Mr. Vokac, Mrs. Espinhe will give courses in junior and senior life saving for both boys and girls Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

A program of competitive sports with other playgrounds is also being planned. In order to give boys a full schedule of baseball games, cars will be needed for transportation to games away from home. The away-from-home games will be played in the morning, and should be finished by noon. Parents and other interested persons may contact Don Peeters at the field house.

Swimming season tickets have been prepared and are as follows: Non-resident, family $9.60; adult $6; student $4.80; and children $3. Residents, family $7.20; adult $4.80; student $3.60; and children $2.40.

DAILY SCHEDULE for the park program also was officially announced this week. Girls' activities directed by Miss Karstens will be on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9:30 a. m. to 10:30 a. m. at South park; Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10:30 a. m. to 12:00 noon at Municipal park. On Saturdays, she will direct special activities from 9:30 a. m. to 12 noon at Municipal park.

Miss Middel will direct girls' activities on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9:30 a. m. to 10:30 a. m. at Municipal park. She will be in charge of girls' handicraft from 10:30 a. m. to 12 noon on Tuesdays and Thursdays in the field house. On Saturdays, she will direct special activities at municipal park from 9:30 to 12 noon.

The boys' program will include baseball, softball and basketball, directed by Don Peeters at Municipal park and Mr. Vokac at South park on Mondays and Wednesdays from 9:30 a. m. to 10:45 a. m.

Registration for these activities will be accepted from 9:30 a. m. to 3 p. m. by Miss Karstens, Miss Middel, Don Peeters or Mr. Vokac.

All girls interested in forming a water ballet club are encouraged to report to the field house Saturday, June 19, at 1:30 p. m.

Lutheran home for aged to hold annual festival Sunday, July 11

The annual festival of the Lutheran Home and Service for the Aged, Arlington Heights, will be held July 11, the second Sunday in July, traditional date of the event.

Divine services in German at 10:30 a. m. and English at 3 p. m. will be followed by entertainment. Lunches and refreshments and fancy goods will be sold. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

The Lutheran home held a reception and luncheon for its tag day workers May 27. Two hundred women attending the luncheon heard Rev. J. M. Kempf, executive secretary of the home, congratulate them on their fine work.

Mrs. Edward Abel, tag day chairman, reported the ladies had achieved a record among participating groups in the tag day activities.

1100 dogs to vie at Arlington Sunday

Kennel club show, one of nation's largest, at high school grounds

A total of 1,220 entries and 1,120 dogs, constituting a new high, has been listed for the 11th annual all-breed dog show of the Skokie Valley Kennel Club to be held next Sunday (June 20) on the high school grounds at Arlington Heights.

Dachshunds with 172 nominations lead all of the 70 breeds recorded for the show.

Tabulation of entries, still incomplete, show German Shepherds with 70, Boxers 68 and Doberman Pinschers 50.

Mrs. Janet Henneberry, club president, announces that Dachshund entries are the largest ever listed for the breed in a show—indoor or outdoor—in the Midwest. The Dachshund club of the Great Lakes will consider the classes for the show as its 1948 specialty. The premium list for the specialty shows more than 70 sponsors. The classes will be judged by James Trullinger of Pittsburgh, Pa.

INCLUDED among the Dachshund entries are the pick of the kennels at Whipoorwill Farm near Lake Forest, where Mrs. Walter D. Monroe maintains a string of the best "dachies" in America.

Thirty-eight states and two Canadian provinces are represented among the entries for this year's show, Mrs. Henneberry stated.

James M. Austin, Old Westbury, L. I., will head the panel of 15 judges who are coming from 10 states. He will pick the best dog in show, best brace and best team in show.

In the variety groups, A. W. Brockway, Chicago, will judge the sporting breeds; Forest Hall, Dallas, Texas, the hound breeds; George Kalish, Skokie, the working breeds; James Trullinger, Pittsburgh, Pa., the terrier breeds and Lewis Wordes, Jersey City, N. J., the toy and non-sporting breeds.

Mrs. Enne Meyer, Milford, O., will judge classes in the hound, working, toy and non-sporting breeds not assigned to other officials.

Harry D. Kendrick, Indianapolis, Ind., will pick the winners among cocker spaniels. Justin F. O'Sullivan, Portland, Me., will pin the ribbons in classes for German Shepherds and Great Danes.

THE COLLIE winners will be selected by Harvey Winans, Valley Park, Mo.

While the bench show proper is in progress, 90 dogs will be put through their paces in the obedience trials to be judged by Jerry Allen of River Forest, Robert E. Nollie, Toledo, O., and Miss Mona Gail Kinney, Kenilworth.

There will be four children's handling classes in which prizes will be awarded solely for skillful handling with the points of the dog not to count. The judges will be George Ward, Birmingham, Mich., and Douglas McClain, Deerfield.

Mrs. Henneberry reported that the new location of the show this year will afford many advantages in benching and judging the dogs.

Arlington police may acquire 'Mountie' for patrol duty

Now that Arlington has adopted the sixty-minute parking system and has station curbs, village signs on downtown streets, officials feel that an officer riding a three-wheeled motorcycle, similar to ones now used in Chicago, will do a more efficient job in checking cars in the business area.

Tracking down parking sign violations on foot is too much of a job for one man. The three-wheeled "steed" would make it unnecessary to hire a second officer, in the opinion of the police committee.

EXTRA! EXTRA!

As this paper goes to press, word comes from Herman Hinz, president of Chamber of Commerce that sufficient rides have been made available for the celebration of July 4th in Arlington Heights in the customary manner. Negotiations are expected to be completed by Thursday noon.

The American Legion post has signified its readiness to reenter the picture and join the business men in a real celebration.

Failure of a ride concessionaire to make good on promised rides caused the two groups ten days ago to drop their original plans.

Begin erection of new Faith church in Arlington

Ground-breaking ceremonies for Faith English Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, were held Sunday, June 13, at the new site on South State road.

In a well-attended outdoor service, dedication rites for the first church home were conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Edgar H. Behrens, and were audible over a considerable area by the Hinz sound systems.

AN ADDRESS was given by Rev. Roger L. Sommer, editor of the English district edition of the Lutheran Witness, and Pastor of the Church of St. John the Divine, Chicago.

In the ground-breaking ceremonies, Rev. Behrens was assisted by Edward J. Ahmer, chairman of the congregation; Henry J. Schroeder, Sunday school superintendent; Mrs. Laura Heidorn, president of the Ladies society; William Mueller, president of the Men's club; Edwin Schroeder, president of the choir; and Miss Ruth Studman, president of the Waltham league.

EXCAVATION for the Faith church will begin this week and construction will follow immediately, according to Walter Kroeber, architect, who will supervise erection of the church.

The parish hall in the basement will have ample facilities for the growing Sunday school and for activities of the Young People's society, Ladies society, and Men's club.

The church will have an overall length of 117 feet and overall width of 54 feet. The auditorium will be 35 feet by 70 feet, and will have a total seating capacity of 520.

The church will be 21 feet deep and 23 feet wide. Until completion of the new church, Faith congregation will hold service every Sunday at the Field house, on Miner street.

File petitions to put N. W. hospital authority on November ballot

More than 1000 residents of seven northwest suburbs, including almost all physicians, have signed petitions favoring the creation of a $1,500,000 100-bed hospital for that area, according to Atty. Fred B. Hanson of Glenview, steering committee chairman, who filed the petition in county court.

The proposed hospital would serve Wheeling, Northbrook, Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Northfield, Glenview, Golf, Morton Grove and Prospect Heights.

The petition requested permission to place the hospital proposed on the November election ballots in the area.

Before petitions were circulated, the plan for erecting the hospital through a bond issue supplemented by state and federal aid was endorsed by all dentists and physicians in the area except two who plan to build their own hospitals.

Uncle Sam says 'No'

Postal regulations have always prohibited admission to the mails of newspapers advertising lotteries, bingo games, door prizes, games of chance, or reporting names of winners. This paper, as have many other papers, considered the restriction almost a dead letter. Paddock Publications learned that the regulations still stand when a complaint was filed two weeks ago with the Elmhurst postmaster, who stopped delivery of the current issue of this paper.

Paddock Publications is not going to fight the postoffice department and bows to the orders. This week and hereafter mention of raffles, door prizes, bingo games, etc., will not be mentioned. Sorry, but Uncle Sam says "No."

Several colorful floats, sponsored by Arlington Heights chamber of commerce, also will be a part of the parade.

To show '49 Ford Friday

The 1949 Ford, revealing a radical departure from traditional Ford styling and engineering, will be shown to the public this Friday, June 18, at all dealers showrooms throughout the country.

Local dealers report a tremendous curiosity about the new models. Last week's release of pictures of the model rekindled requests about delivery that have been thrown at the dealers the past four months.

Probably the two greatest changes in the 1949 Ford are the styling and springs. The grille is distinctive, the hood massive but shorter, and the body so wide the rear fenders have been eliminated. There are also unbroken lines from front to rear.

NEW TYPE of suspension system—"hydra-coil"—springs—replaces the transverse springs and the front axle. In the rear, extra long longitudinal springs are complemented by airplane type shock absorbers.

The Hotchkiss drive and the hypoid rear axle are other new features of the Ford. Automatically controlled temperature in the new heating system has also been added.

Body styles in both the Ford and Ford Custom lines include the four door sedan, two door sedan and club coupe. Convertibles and station wagon models are obtainable only in the Custom line, and the three passenger coupe only in the Ford line.

George C. Poole, Inc., Arlington Heights dealer, has planned free technical movies of all models to be shown at his garage evenings. The Arlington showroom will be open this Saturday night, only, and Sunday, 10-4, for the first week's showing of the new models.

BOWLING LEAGUES MUST STATE INTENTIONS BY THE END OF JUNE

Everett Lingren of the Arlington Heights Bowling Lanes has issued a call for all league secretaries to report all plans for next season by the end of June. The local alleys require reservations be made by that time.

Marines will participate, as will more than a dozen area fire departments. Local scouts and school children also will take part. Movies will be taken of the "more than 50 units."

STARS of radio and stage will entertain nightly. They include the Groucho Marx comedy team; Beauty Leav, xylophonist; Jean Collins, WLC star; plus home town talent, Jack Everett, of Arlington Heights, will be master of ceremonies.

According to S. Greshner, parade marshal, line of march will be: fall in at Ridge avenue, west side of high school, at 1 p. m. Step-off time is 2:15 p. m. The parade will march east on Euclid to State road, south on State road past the reviewing stand at North school, east on Miner to Belmont, south on Belmont to Campbell to enter Recreation park.

Movies will be shown Sunday evening, July 25, by U. S. Navy recruiting service.

The public is cordially invited to attend the carnival program in Arlington Heights.

Arlington opening offers $125,000 in race purses

Arlington Park, one of America's finest racing courses, will open its gates Monday, June 21, for a six-week racing season.

The big racing plant is all ready for the opening. Both the main track and famous turf course are ready for the speedsters, and the whole plant, cleaned and polished, is "all set."

The huge stands, spacious dining rooms, and Post and Paddock club are "all dolled up" for the appearance of local and distant horse-lovers.

MORE beautiful and picturesque than ever is the Paddock park with its saddling space and walking ring, fringed with blooming flowers.

The big barns, with stable space for more than 1200 horses, will soon house many thoroughbred racers. And the whole plant will be open Sunday afternoon in a preview to the public.

The big stake race schedule which annually offers one of the richest programs in the country will start right off on opening day with the running of the Hyde Park stakes for two-year-olds at five and one-half furlongs for a purse of $20,000.

On Wednesday afternoon, the Princess Doreen stakes for three-year-old fillies will be on the program, a race at six furlongs for a purse of $15,000.

Saturday, June 26, the first Saturday meeting, is the day for the historic Equipoise mile. This is a race for three-year-olds and up, and the prize is $30,000.

FAMOUS and historic stakes of other years will also be contested during the meeting, ending with the great Arlington classic at a mile and one-quarter the last day of the meeting for a purse of $60,000.

Arlington Park, under its present management, has done a great deal to make Chicago the racing center of America. For the next six weeks, the leading stables of the nation, and the most skilled trainers and jockeys will be contesting for some of the richest purses and stake offerings in the land.

Airport acts on recommendations of health department

The office of Dr. Piszczek informed Paddock Publications that the septic tank with filter beds at Arlington Hts. airport training camp had been thoroughly cleaned and new beds installed. The department will check the effluent to see if sewage has been properly treated.

A bath house with provision for 15 urinals, toilets and ten showers is to be constructed. The department of health states that it is keeping a close watch to see that its recommendations are being complied with.

Teacher, building changes approved by AHTHS board

In anticipation of an enrollment of more than 800 students for the 1948-49 school year, Arlington Heights township high school board of education authorized that there be "some changes made" at a meeting Monday, June 14.

Three new teachers were hired officially at the meeting, building personnel and office staff were re-hired, and remodeling of several school rooms was approved.

IN AUTHORIZING building changes, the board approved a plan for remodeling the home economics department. Six unit kitchens will be installed, complete with venetian blinds and pictures on the wall, and will be ready for use by January, 1949.

The old science department at present is being remodeled into classrooms for radio workshop, latin and mathematics departments.

PRELIMINARY work in completion of a new athletic field was approved last night with the awarding of a grading contract to Milburn Bros., paving contractors, of Mt. Prospect. The Milburn company was low bidder with $6,910 against four other bidding firms. Work on the field will be started this week, and partial use of the athletic field will be possible by fall.

In the expanding adult education program, two new courses were added to the curriculum. Leather craft and commercial art will be taught by John W. Dean of Arlington Heights, a commercial artist.

Dramatics and little theater work will be taught by Miss Fretz and Miss Potts. Emphasis will be on one-act plays, and the group will give plays for the public at the end of the semester.

Miss Jeanne Fretz, of Bradford, Penna., will teach speech contest work, English I and II, and dramatics. She was graduated from Northwestern university school of speech in June, 1948, receiving her B. A. degree in speech and English.

Miss Patricia Potts, of Gibson City, Ill., will teach radio workshop, English II, and dramatics at Arlington Hts. next year. She also is a graduate of Northwestern university, June, 1948, and received her B. A. degree for radio.

THIRD NEW TEACHER hired by the board of education is Mrs. Gertrude Patton O'Connor, of Normal, Ill., who will be the new librarian. Mrs. O'Connor has a bachelor of arts degree from Ohio State university, master of arts from Northwestern university, and bachelor of library science from University of Illinois.

Her teaching experience includes 2 years at Campbell, O.; 8 years as adjustment teacher (Continued on Page Seven)

No fireworks

As the 4th of July approaches this year, we are reminded to urge the full cooperation of residents of this community in enforcement of the Illinois Fireworks Law. The retail sale and use of fireworks are illegal.

As in years past, Arlington Heights police have been directed to suppress shooting of fireworks. We trust we can count on everyone in Arlington Heights and community to help make this a year with no fireworks accidents.

The State of Illinois ranks third highest in the United States with bad fireworks accidents. We have an excellent record in Arlington Heights, however, and we are determined to keep it good.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
The subject of the Lesson-Sermon on all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 13, was:

"GOD THE PRESERVER OF MAN"
The Golden Text was:
"The Lord bless thee, and keep thee: the Lord make his face shine upon thee, and be gracious unto thee; the Lord lift up his countenance upon thee, and give thee peace" (Num. 6: 24-26).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon were the following from the Bible:
"Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body more than raiment? . . . But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you" (Matt. 6: 25, 33).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:
"In divine Science, man is sustained by God, the divine Principle of being. The earth, at God's command, brings forth food for man's use. Knowing this, Jesus once said, 'Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink,'—presuming not on the prerogative of his creator, but recognizing God, the Father and Mother of all, as able to feed and clothe man as He doth the lilies. . . . Divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need (pp. 530, 494.)"

Jean Geils and Henry Ehhard exchange vows

Miss Jean Geils, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Geils of Des Plaines, and Henry Ehhard, son of Mrs. Matilda Ehhard of Mount Prospect, were united in holy wedlock last Saturday at the St. Paul Ev. Lutheran church. The couple repeated their vows after Rev. J. E. A. Mueller, who was in charge of the service.

The soloist, Carol Faulstich, sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied at the organ by Mr. Jackisch. Baskets of gladioli and candelabra decorated the church altar.

Miss Geils was attired in a colonial style white satin gown, which was fashioned with a deep sweetheart neckline and long lace edged train. Her gown was made by her aunt and was set off with a fingertip veil that was held in place by a bonnet shaped crown. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis and gladioli petals. Mr. Geils gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride's cousin, Betty Ann Goebbert, served as maid of honor. She wore a colonial style gown of blue eyelet material, having a drop shoulder effect bodice and scalloped neckline. Red roses, tied with red streamers made up her colonial bouquet. Joyce Sanderson acted as bridesmaid and Joyce Runge as junior bridesmaid. They both were dressed identically to the maid of honor and carried colonial bouquets of pink roses, tied with pink streamers. All of the bride's attendants wore matching mitts and matching flowers in their hair. They also wore three strand pearl necklaces, which were gifts from the bride.

Pat MacDonald served as best man for the bridegroom, with George Robert Busse and Arnold Goebbert acting as ushers. Mrs. Geils wore a grey print dress for her daughter's wedding.

while the groom's mother was attired in an aqua dress. Both mothers had purple orchid corsages.

Following the ceremony a reception for 325 guests was held at the Wheeling school hall. Mr. and Mrs. Ehhard are enjoying a honeymoon in the Ozarks and upon their return will make their home with the bride's parents.

Naomi Grismer, Wayne Swearingen married

Miss Naomi Ruth Grismer became the bride of Wayne W. Swearingen last Saturday evening at the South church in Mount Prospect. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Grismer Sr. of Arlington Heights and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Swearingen of Gorin, Mo.

The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. E. I. Stevens before an altar banked with palms, vases of peonies, and flickering candles. The soloist, Lucia Beth Stevens, sang "Through The Years," and "Because," accompanied at the organ by Theodore Lams.

Gowned in traditional white satin the bride was given in marriage by her father. Her dress was fashioned with fitted bodice, having drop shoulder neckline trimmed with ruffle of imported French lace, with the same lace forming a peplum over the full skirt that ended in a long train. The imported illusion fingertip veil was held in place by an orange blossom headpiece. Her bridal bouquet was made up of white roses, stephanotis, and white sweetpeas, having an orchid center.

Mrs. Alvin Moehling, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. She wore a dress of blue marquisette over blue taffeta. The bodice was styled with drop shoulder edged in a ruffle, and a matching ruffle circled the bottom of the full skirt. The dress was trimmed with scattered pink bows. Mrs. Moehling carried a bouquet of pink roses and white sweetpeas, tied with a blue bow, and had a matching tiara for her hair.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. William H. Grismer Jr. and Mrs. Walton Bartels. They were gownned like the matron of honor except that their dresses were trimmed with yellow bows. They carried bouquets of yellow roses and white sweetpeas, tied with blue bows, and had matching tiaras in their hair. The bride's nieces, Merrillie and Sandra Moehling, acted as flower girls. They wore yellow dresses trimmed with blue bows and yellow marquisette bonnets trimmed with blue bows. The flower girls carried bouquets of spring flowers, which were tied with yellow ribbons.

The bride's mother was attended in a grey crepe dress and had a corsage of talisman roses.

The bridegroom was attended by William Grismer Jr. as best man. Ushers were Richard Jones and Walton Bartels.

Following the ceremony a reception for 200 guests was held at the Arlington Heights field house. Music for dancing was furnished by Mel's Orchestra. Out of town guests included Miss Collie Swearingen, the groom's sister of Ft. Madison, Ia.; Vernon Ewing and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Swearingen, all of Gorin, Mo.; Mrs. Albert Angel and daughter, Karen Sue of Evansville, Ind.; Mrs. Mandel Kersten and sons, Wayne and Lyle, of Rockford; and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Schnell and Miss Frieda Schnell, all of Ash-ton, Ill., and Misses Eva Lord of Sandwich, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Swearingen are enjoying a two week honeymoon, spending the first week at Turkey Run, Ind., and the second week traveling through the South. Upon their return they will make their home with the bride's parents for the present.

OCF firemen fund goes to war memorial

Arlington Heights village board voted unanimously to turn over to the trustees of the war memorial fund the $350 that was recently turned over to the village by Henry Hoeft, treasurer of the OCF auxiliary firemen who were active during World War II.

The suggestion was made at a previous meeting that the money be turned over to the regular fire department, or used to reimburse the village for amount paid for a diesel pumper or air compressor secured from the government during the war.

Alderman Luehring suggested it could more fittingly be added to the existing war memorial fund. The entire board agreed with Luehring.

Stomach cancer is curable

by SIEBURG DRUG CO., Inc.

Doctors report that stomach cancer kills about 38,000 people in the United States each year. Many deaths from this disease are unnecessary. It caught in time stomach cancer can be cured by surgery.

The difficulty lies in detecting the disease in its early stages because most victims wait over a year after symptoms are noticed before they seek a doctor's advice.

Symptoms which should be investigated are tiredness and weakness, loss of appetite for meat, and indigestion before or after meals.

Those who seek medical advice regularly in order to prevent illness are wise.

All prescriptions should be entrusted to a pharmacist who will compound them in a precise manner.

Traffic violators 'pay up' -- in court and out

Only three traffic violators answered "roll" in Arlington Heights traffic court Wednesday morning.

One case was continued to next week until the defendant could collect enough money to pay an impending fine.

Another charge, against Vern Hummel, of Palatine, was dismissed after the defendant paid the court $3 plus $3 court costs for not possessing a suitable muffler for his auto.

John L. Wright, of Palatine, was booked by Chief Skoog under village ordinance 61, leaving the scene of an accident. Wright stated that after his auto had hit a young girl, La Verne Melvin, 15, at Dunton and Route 14, he stopped his auto, but the girl had apparently got up and gone.

"You're lucky the girl was only bruised," the judge reprimanded Wright. "Nevertheless, there is no excuse for leaving an accident scene without reporting it to the nearest police station."

The defendant was fined $10 plus $3 court costs.

The weekly "processing" of Arlington Heights traffic violators does not all take place in Wednesday morning police court. Many cases are handled by Judge Neumann as the defendants come to "talk" to him. Therefore, local arrests sometimes are omitted from the newspaper report of court proceedings.

Local people who visited Judge Neumann last week and this week, in one place or another, and the charges and fines against them are:

Walter Swanson, Palatine, no muffler on car, $2 fine.

Laurence White, Arlington Heights, no muffler, $3 fine.

William Hafferkamp, Palatine, no muffler, $3.

Arlington boy honored as 3,000th enlistee for USAF jet school

Fred W. Bista Jr., 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Bista, Arlington Heights, was the 3,000th enlistee for the United States air force from the Chicago metropolitan area.

He enlisted June 11 for three years, with permission of his parents. In honor of his position as 3,000th enlistee, Fred was presented with a gold watch Thursday, June 17, at the Chicago recruiting office.

He will leave Thursday at 4 p. m. for Lackland air base, San Antonio, Texas, where he will receive basic training. He will then attend a jet mechanics school.

Last Sunday, Coach Grace, of Arlington Heights township high school, Fred's classmates and members of the "A" club, and relatives honored him at a surprise farewell party. His high school friends gave him a pen and pencil set. Guests at the party later enjoyed a wiener roast.

While in high school, Fred was active in sports, his favorites being football and baseball. According to his mother, however, "he was interested in all kinds of airplanes ever since he saw the first one."

An editorial

This paper believes it is expressing the desire of the majority of Arlington Heights residents when it compliments the action of the village board in turning over $350 to the war memorial fund. The present trustees of that fund amounting to over $10,000 consider it a sacred trust to be used only as a memorial to those who gave their lives in the last war.

It is no secret that some people do not agree with this paper or with the trustees. Every few months some person comes forward with a suggestion that the money be used for some other purpose than a memorial library.

That amount will not build a library building, but it will be adequate to furnish a memorial room in which could be placed historic documents, local records of the boys, living and dead, who served their country in all wars.

It was in the belief that the fund will be kept intact for that purpose that the village board turned over that money last Monday.

at Illinois State Normal university, Normal, Ill.; 1 year as part-time librarian at University high school, Urbana; 1 year as librarian at Champaign junior high school; and campus librarian at Western Michigan College of Education, at Kalamazoo.

The board at present is looking for an apartment for Mrs. O'Connor and her three daughters the youngest of whom is just finishing high school.

Miss Jean Nelson, present librarian at the school, has resigned in order to teach library science at the University of Iowa, at Iowa City.

RESIGNATION of Cyril J. Waters, general science and driver training teacher, was accepted "with regret by the board. Waters, who taught here one year, will be school principal at Mendon, Ill.

Mrs. Lorraine Ring, speech correctionist employed by both the grade and high schools, also resigned this week. Announcement of new appointees for these positions will be made at a later date.

The board also renewed the contract of M. Ethel Riordan as educational and vocational counselor. She is employed for 12 months and the state pays her salary.

The present office force of three will be retained for another year. They are Helena Guenther, as bookkeeper; Jean Hanauer, attendance secretary; and Elaine Kehe, registrar. Marian Goebbert was hired as secretary.

Four cafeteria employees were rehired. They are Ella Gams, Hildur Blomquist, Sophie Fiene and Helen Martini. The board also renewed contracts of five custodians: Stanley Woznick, chief, Alex Stonefield, Glenn Wilmoth, Charles McElhose and Walter Fiene.

Arlington leads suburbs with 19 building permits

A population trend toward the suburbs was seen by the county zoning office this week, as Director Mullins announced that the May total for building permits was the highest figure for that month in the county in the history of the bureau.

There were 430 county permits issued last month, for a total valuation of $1,868,330.

The previous highest May was in 1947 when 366 permits totaled $1,693,635 in valuations.

In 1946, the May total was 353 permits with a valuation of $1,168,005.

"PEOPLE ARE moving toward the outskirts," said Mullins in predicting that 1948 would be the high year for suburban building.

"Building in the outlying areas," he said, "is about eight times as great proportionately as in the city. That looks like a trend to me."

In Arlington Heights, 19 building permits were issued for May, 1948, according to Paul Taege, building commissioner. All were for single family dwelling units, at a total valuation of $240,000.

In addition, 11 garages were built during the month at a total valuation of $10,350.

Five alterations of homes in Arlington Heights were made in May at a valuation of $7,650.

IN A RECENT village survey, it was shown that 316 new homes had been built and occupied in Arlington Heights since the end of the war.

Not only has the residential growth of the city boomed, but Arlington has acquired three new industrial plants and one plant extension since January, 1941. These figures are from a total of 17 new plants and 19 plant expansions built outside Chicago city limits since the '41 date.

A significant note on suburban growth is that since 1942, suburban cities have attracted new industries because many ideal tracts are available along many railway lines for all kinds of industries.

A corresponding note is that house construction also has been going outside Chicago city boundaries. In the first four months of this year construction of 4,484 single family dwellings was started in the Chicago area, but only 1,102 of these were in the city.

Construction of apartment buildings is also lagging in Chicago. The present rate is only 552 such family units per year, as compared to 25,000 similar units in 1926 and 1927.

Arlington Heights, 19, $240,000.
Bensenville, 4, $21,400.
Des Plaines, 11, $111,800.
Glenview, 13, $159,935.

County board okays 4 suburban zoning plats

The county board Tuesday approved the plat of Geisler's subdivision in Palatine township. The property is bounded on the south by Algonquin road, on the east by Quinlan road and on the west by a line 1329.62 feet west of Quinlan road.

Approval of the plat of resubdivision in C. A. Goetz Prospect Gardens in Wheeling township was voted Tuesday by the county board. The property is bounded on the south by Central road, on the north by a line 711.47 feet north of Central road; on the east by Marcella avenue and on the west by a line 165.08 feet west of Marcella avenue.

Plat of S. Michael's subdivision in J. S. Howland's Winnetka subdivision in Northfield township was approved Tuesday by the county board. The property is bounded on the north by Winnetka avenue to a point 570.80 feet south and on the west by a line 122.50 feet west of Mickey Lane and on the east by a line 122.50 feet east of Mickey Lane.

The county board Tuesday approved the plat of Fenz Acres in Schaumburg township. The property is bounded on the north by Irving Park road, on the south by the Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul and Pacific railroad and 300 feet on either side of Long avenue.

Tax collections slower this year than 1947

Tax collections were slower this year than last, Louis E. Nelson, county treasurer, revealed this week.

Nelson estimated that only 30 to 35 percent of the bills had been paid by the penalty date, June 10. Last year there were 40 percent of the bills paid by that date.

There was collected in taxes by June 1 $78,392,401.58 in real estate and personal property taxes while last year, on the penalty date, there was $123,712,369.33 collected.

Of this amount, $60,273,359.10 was collected this year in real estate taxes and $18,365,881.48 in personal property taxes. Last year there was $89,008,514.82 collected in real estate taxes and $34,703,854.51 in personal property taxes.

Nelson explained the reason for this year's lower collections is that bills were sent out earlier last year. Although there was a month extension in the penalty date in 1947, as this year, more bills were sent out in the early days of April. Bills were mailed starting with the middle of April this year.

Also more people mailed in their payments this year, Nelson cited, and said the office was 10 days behind in its mail. A special staff was opening envelopes and bills in this mail had not yet been processed through the office and added to the totals.

In addition, Nelson said, there were more objections filed to tax rates and assessments this year than last. He pointed out that only the first payments must be paid when there is a protest and therefore, there are fewer bills paid for both periods than last year.

Evelyn Wilke wed in double ring ceremony

A double ring ceremony united in holy matrimony Miss Evelyn Wilke and Merlyn Reum, and was held June 5 at the St. Paul Lutheran church, Harvard, Ill. Miss Wilke is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Wilke, formerly of Arlington Heights and now living at Darien, Wisconsin. Mr. Reum is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arwin Reum of Clinton, Wisconsin.

White peonies, gladioli and delphinium adorned the church, and the couple repeated their vows of marriage after Rev. Harry N. Huxhold, who officiated at the ceremony. Vivian Benstead sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord Is My Shepherd" during the service.

Miss Wilke, given in marriage by her father, was dressed in a white satin gown styled with fitted bodice having a net yoke trimmed with seed pearls and long pointed sleeves, and a full skirt ending in a long train. A head piece of orange blossoms held her fingertip veil in place, and she carried a crescent bouquet of white roses.

The bride's attendants, Sharon Wilke and Carol Beedy, both serving as maids of honor, and Lois Glade and Shirley Ann Higgins, both serving as bridesmaids, were all gowned alike in aqua taffeta dresses. The dresses had off the shoulder bodices and full skirts, and were set off with pale pink bonnets trimmed with tiny aqua flowers. They carried bouquets of pink and aqua tinted carnations and wore moonstone necklaces, which were a gift of the bride. The first maid of honor, Sharon Wilke, wore a gold necklace with an aqua stone.

Arden Reum, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man, with Grayson Welty and Stanley Mensching acting as ushers.

An aqua print mesh dress, set off with a corsage of white and maroon carnations was worn by the bride's mother. Mrs. Reum chose to wear a pale pink linen dress and had a corsage of white and blue delphinium.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony at the Legion hall at Harvard, Ill. Wally Hahnfeldt's orchestra furnished music for dancing. Out of town guests came from Lake Geneva and Avalon, Wisconsin; Hebron, Arlington Heights, Palatine, Roselle, and Rockford, Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. Reum enjoyed a week's honeymoon in Northern Wisconsin and will be at home after July 1, at 1252 S. Washington street, Janesville, Wisconsin.

Margaret Allison and Roland Wills marry

The altar of the Arlington Hts. Methodist church was banked with palms, baskets of red roses, and candles glowing from the Roy Lawbaugh memorial candle-labra, all forming the setting Saturday for the wedding of Miss Margaret Allison and Roland D. Wills. Miss Allison is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira D. Allison of Arlington Heights and Mr. Wills is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wills of Sabina, Ohio.

Rev. Chester Quimby of Mt. Vernon, Iowa, read the nuptial ceremony. During the service Mrs. Charlotte Lull, organist, accompanied Miss Barbara Crysler who sang, "Because," and "I Love You Truly," and Ira Parker, who sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in a white taffeta dress that ended in a train. Her nylon veil was fastened to a beaded Juliet cap. A colonial bouquet of white roses, edged with white sweetpeas, completed her bridal attire.

Maid of honor was Miss Nancy Bredfeldt, who wore a white taffeta dress, styled similar to the bride's and carried a bouquet of red roses centered with white roses. Ida Jo Grigg of Washington, D. C., college roommate of the bride's, and Virginia Campbell of Kent, Ohio, student in the Methodist Seminary at Newark, Ohio, served as bridesmaids. They also wore white taffeta dresses, and carried colonial bouquets of red roses tied with red streamers.

Gordon W. Allison, brother of the bride, served the bridegroom as best man. John McKinney, Marion, Ohio, Gordon Strachon, Pittsburg, Pa., and Brian Crumlish of Crystal Lake, Ill., acted as ushers.

A reception was held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony and was attended by 200 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Wills are enjoying a honeymoon in Indiana and Ohio. They will be at home in Denver, Colorado, after June 21, where the bridegroom will be a senior in Business Administration at the University of Denver.

Braille for the Blind

Braille—raised print literature for the blind—is a system of raised dots on paper, two vertical rows of three dots each. In the Braille alphabet various combinations of these dots form 63 distinct characters. In all, there are 258 signs and contractions formed by combinations of dots or combinations of characters. Moon, also a raised type, is a modification of Roman characters. Persons whose sense of touch is less sensitive often prefer moon because the characters are larger.

Wisconsin speeder fined $50 and costs in Palatine court

Robert Schepke, the Wisconsin speeder who outdistanced Palatine's new Hudson police car, appeared before Judge Hartman in Palatine police court Saturday afternoon and was fined $50 plus $5 court costs.

"I wish I could double the fine," the judge told the speeder, "because there's no excuse for a driving rampage that endangers the lives of countless citizens."

Schepke was ultimately tracked down by Police Officer Moehling who, despite the fact that he was driving the new police auto, had to radio Arlington police to throw a road block in front of the speeder's car. The speeding episode took place on Route 53 and Northwest highway.

During the course of the court lecture, Schepke admitted he had been arrested for speeding in Wisconsin on a previous occasion. On his local driving spree, Schepke was accompanied by three pals. When he appeared in court, he was alone.

Several other speeders were given lesser fines for traffic violations in the Palatine area in an effort of local police to curb speeding and reckless driving.

To erect new library building in Mt. Prospect

Plans have been started in Mt. Prospect for erection of an exclusive library building.

Its actual construction may not take place in the immediate future, but the library board already has entered into a contract with the Haase estate for a lot at the northwest corner of Busse ave. and Emerson st.

The library board can pay half the purchase from funds other than those secured from general taxes.

The price named by the Haase estate is so advantageous that the library board expects plans for the purchase will meet with the approval of the village board and general public.

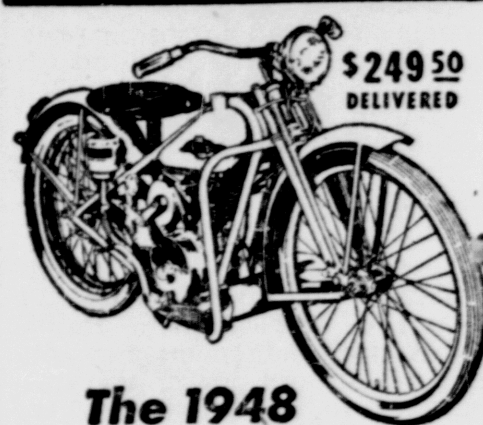

Quarters suggested for library use in the municipal building now under construction would have been entirely inadequate for library needs.

Redwing rally falls 1 short of Oak Park, 8-7

Arlington team host to North Chicago this Sunday afternoon

The Redwings' inaugural game in the Northeast Illinois league with Oak Park was an exciting affair, but finished with an unhappy ending from the Redwings' viewpoint, 8-7.

The outcome seemed to be cast in the third when Oak Park scored 6 runs on two hits and five errors by Arlington. The extent of the Redwing defensive collapse is almost beyond description. Oak Park was a bit bashful about taking advantage of it either. The climax came after errors loaded the bases and an Oak Parker hit a home run.

IN THE SIXTH, the visitors scored their eighth run when a runner who again reached third on errors, stole home. This score eventually meant the ball game.

Redwings bats were silenced for seven innings, but in the eighth a six run rally climaxed by Ted Leitz's home run with the bases loaded, brought the score up to its final standing of 8-7. The tying and winning runs were on base when the third out ended the inning.

Although outscored, the Redwings outlasted the visitors 10 to 7. The visitors aided their pitcher with brilliant defensive play in contrast to the locals poor showing.

NEXT SUNDAY North Chicago will be here to play the Redwings in another league game. North Chicago also lost last Sunday to Woodstock. Sunday's game brings together to losers.

Spectator response to the opening was very good and the crowd enjoyed the game, staying until the final Redwing was out. Sunday's game should also be a thriller in view of North Chicago being one of the favorites for the championship. Last year the Redwings split a pair of games with North Chicago.

Schedule standings, results, and league are as follows:

MACSAYS
BY GERALD McELROY

Three of Palatine's best athletes of the past year are enrolled in three different colleges, Harold Stephan, all conference half back and record breaker and high scorer of the league in track, will run for Illinois Normal University the next four years. He is a sure thing in this writer's opinion to be a good college broke the Northwest high jump record, and hopes to do more jumping for Illinois College at Jacksonville.

Steinbrink was the most improved track man at Palatine this year and is a real college possibility. Dick Pepper, second high scholar in the senior class and all-conference basketball and football player, is enrolled in engineering at Northwestern. If Dick gets enough time to go out for sports the guess is that basketball and golf will be his best bets.

Although outscored, the Redwings outlasted the visitors 10 to 7. The visitors aided their pitcher with brilliant defensive play in contrast to the locals poor showing.

Hyde Park stakes head opening day at races

The $20,000 Hyde Park stakes, which will be presented next Monday as the opening day feature of the rich and colorful Arlington Park meeting, will bring together a band of juvenile colts and fillies which already have distinguished themselves in early season racing in the east, south and middle west. The list of 23 nominations announced by racing secretary William E. Dahlstrom includes horses which have won stakes at six other tracks.

Among them are such swift and well bred youngsters as Irish Sun, Ky. Colonel, Olympia, Imacomin, Ocean Drive, and John's Joy. In addition to the stakes winners there are others such as John Marsch's Ol' Skipper which have shown blazing speed. Among the nominees are many which will be pointing toward

The Fords have taken the 9th district championship two years in a row. The team this season is made up of a hustling group of boys in the fifteen and sixteen years age group.

The next Legion practice is Thursday, June 17, at 4:00 p. m. at Recreation park.

Panthers lose two games

The Panthers of Arlington Heights lost two baseball games to Palatine on two consecutive Tuesdays. The scores were 6-4 and 23-0.

Some of the regulars on the Panther team were missing in the lineup for the last game. The Palatine team did an excellent job of pitching during both contests.

The Panthers are looking for more games. Anyone interested is urged to contact Earl Riley, phone Arlington Heights 532-M.

Plenty of hitters at prep all-star classic game

by TOMMY KOUZMANOFF

The pitchers will have to be at their very best in the third annual All-Star High School Baseball Classic June 26 in Wrigley Field, under auspices of the Chicago Herald-American.

Every one of the players thus far honored for high school baseball's biggest show are terrific hitters and even some of the hurlers are fencebusters. All but four boys have been selected for the City squad which will be seeking its second straight win in the series. Still to be named one boy from the City League's west section; two from the South, and one from the Central.

Among those named to date is Jim Lewis, hard-hitting shortstop from Wendell Phillips, first Negro athlete to be honored in the Prep Classic. Lewis boasts a batting mark close to .400 and his fine all-around play drew praise from such experts as Rogers Hornsby.

Prep Classic will be preceded by a history-making oldtimers' game at 1:30 p. m. Such diamond immortals as Ray Schalk, Rogers Hornsby, Gabby Hartnett, Freddie Lindstrom, Jimmy Archer, Tony Piet, Ed Linke, and Ace Calder, a favorite of boxing fans, will play in the National League-vs. American League fray.

Tickets for these two great games are only $1.50 for box seats and 50 cents for grandstand. They can be obtained at Lytton's, State at Jackson; Wrigley Field, Addison at Clark; Triangle Bowl, 233½ E. Garfield Blvd., and The Chicago Herald-American, 326 W. Madison St., Room 304. Mail orders, accompanied by check or money order, should be sent to the Chicago Herald-American. Net proceeds go to convalescent servicemen and service women.

Feature races at Maywood Park Friday night

Pronto Don, king of the 2-year-old trotters in 1947, leads a classy 12 horse field into the $10,000 Preview Trot at Maywood Park, North ave., and River road, on Friday night, June 18th.

The harness stake brings into contention the most select field of 3-year-olds prior to the presentation of the Hambletonian. Pronto Don, pride of E. J. Hayes, DuQuoin, Ill., established himself as a champion, winning 14 races in 16 starts last year as well as going a splendid race against time at Lexington, Ky. His mark of 2:03 2/5 at Lexington put him in the record books as the world champion 2-year-old gelding of all time.

Clashing with the Don will be some of the most outstanding 3-year-olds in recent years. Song Girl, leading money winner among the juveniles last year with $13,609 tucked away; Mercy Abbey, whose $11,000 winnings last year placed her sixth; and Mighty Sister, a daughter of the prolific Volante who has won two races at Santa Anita, California, in tune-up for the Preview.

Post time at the popular suburban half-mile is 8:30 with nine races nightly. Pari-mutuel betting is on all the races with the daily double on the first and second events.

Crystal Lake and Arlington rate 9 and 8 in survey of trophies

Niles township high school walked off with 25% of the championships issued by the now-defunct Northeast conference, it was revealed this week in a survey made by Paddock Publications and Arlington Heights high school's athletic director, Wally Grace. The Trojans ranked first eleven times, taking baseball five times, basketball four, and track twice. The Skokie school never did become a power in football, though they ranked second to Lake Forest in games won.

Aqua parade to open Tuesday at Chicago Arena

Buster Crabbe's brilliant new production, "Aqua Parade of 1948", is ready for its Chicago debut June 22 through June 29 at the Chicago Arena, where nightly performances at 8:30 and a Sunday matinee June 27 at 2:30 are scheduled. Crabbe, movie personality and one of the greatest swimmers the world has ever known with a number of Olympic, world's and national titles and records to his credit, is the producer and star of the elaborate spectacle.

It is considerably more than a water show. "Aqua Parade" is a combined Broadway musical, with a number of outstanding acts and dancing ensembles presented on the miracle "Aqua Stage", and a water presentation. Some of the greatest swimmers and divers in the world, including Helen Crlenkovich and Elbert Root, champion divers, in addition to Crabbe, perform in the world's largest portable tank and off the highest towers into the separate diving pool.

Tickets for "Aqua Parade of 1948" are available at the Chicago Arena box office, 333 E. Erie St., and at Lytton's, State and Jackson.

Crystal Lake and Arlington rate 9 and 8 in survey of trophies

Niles township high school walked off with 25% of the championships issued by the now-defunct Northeast conference, it was revealed this week in a survey made by Paddock Publications and Arlington Heights high school's athletic director, Wally Grace. The Trojans ranked first eleven times, taking baseball five times, basketball four, and track twice. The Skokie school never did become a power in football, though they ranked second to Lake Forest in games won.

Crystal Lake was second in command in the over-all sports picture of the conference, which ended officially this past spring (summer arrives today). League operated nine complete school years and declared nine major sport champions in that span. The Lakers took four track crown, landed on top in basketball three times, and were head men on the goal posts twice.

THE LOCAL Arlington Cardinals took eight trophies, gaining five in base ball, and one each in basketball, track and golf. Final season was the only official league play on the links.

In this, the first article of a series of five, standings of the Northeast conference for all nine years will be included for baseball. In subsequent issues, track, football, and varsity and junior-varsity basketball will be reviewed.

Arlington and Niles had almost monopolistic control on the diamond crown over the years for the Northeast conference. With the exception of '41 and '43, these two schools were tops, three times as co-title holders. In fact, the two teams ranked first-second two times.

BACK IN 1941 Arlington and Niles had almost identical records, each nine suffering just one defeat, a whitewashing at the hands of the other. Following season saw the Trojans and Cardinals at their lowest with two and four losses, respectively.

But in '42 both teams were back in the running with the Heights boys declared champs. Niles suffered the same number of defeats as Arlington, but the Cardinals played and won more games against conference opponents. This was the first of the two restricted war years, when complete conference schedules were not followed.

Leyden came through for their only championship in league history in 1943, winning baseball. Then Arlington jumped back in the driver's seat and remained either there or just behind through this year.

NILES had a fine record for the nine year span, gaining 32 victories against eight losses in the six accountable seasons. Arlington tallied 29 wins against 13 losses.

Golf was an official league sport just one season, the Cards winning easily by 30 strokes over Crystal Lake.

Just two teams were undefeated in the history of the league baseball, both of them Niles squads. The '46 nine emerged victorious, as did the "Trojan's greatest" of the 1948 season when the Skokie nine went to the quarter finals in state tournament play.

Bulldog Turner Signs

Clyde (Bulldog) Turner, 235-pound star center, signed for his eighth Chicago Bear season last week.

Turner came to the Bears in 1940 directly from Hardin-Simmons university. Now 29, the Bulldog promised to report for summer training five pounds lighter than last season's playing weight.

Except for a season of service football with the Army Air Force in 1945 and his "freshman" year in 1940, Turner has been an All-National league pivot.

New Neighbors In The City of Good Neighbors

New neighbors this week, in addition to being newcomers to Arlington Heights, are new neighbors to each other. They all occupy new ranch-type homes on N. Dryden place, on the same side of the street, and agree they wouldn't trade Arlington Heights for any other town.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Skach
418 N. Dryden place
Arlington Heights

"We looked for a suitable home for 2 years," Mrs. Skach, pictured at left with daughter Marilyn, told the reporter, "but couldn't decide where we wanted to live until we happened to visit in Arlington Heights."

Mr. and Mrs. Skach moved here May 1 from Austin, on Chicago's west side, and think our town has wonderful advantages for good family living.

Marilyn, the Skach's daughter, will be nine September 30 and will be in the fourth grade at North school next fall. She is also an enthusiastic troop member of a local Brownie troop.

Mr. Skach has been with the First National bank, Chicago, for 14 years, and doesn't mind commuting to the loop when he considers other advantages of living in Arlington. He also is a captain in the Illinois National Guard, attached to 33rd Division Headquarters in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ullock
502 N. Dryden place
Arlington Heights

"Watsy," so named from Mrs. Watson, previous owner, is delighted over the new environment in Arlington Heights, and is as enthusiastic a new neighbor of our town as are his owners.

"Before we moved to Arlington, we lived in Palatine for five years," Mrs. Ullock told the reporter. "But since we moved here, on April 14 and acquired 'Watsy,' we can't think of anything more we need to complete our home." Reasons for adopting the City of Good Neighbors as a home town? Mrs. Ullock enumerated a few: like this part of the country, think Arlington Heights is a very progressive little town, people are wonderful, like the shopping district, and fine recreation facilities.

The Ullocks have a son, Thomas A., who received his discharge from the Navy April 22. At present he is working as electrical engineering apprentice for Building Maintenance company, Chicago. He also plans to study "double" in night school.

Mr. Ullock has been with the circulation department of the Chicago Daily News for 17 years.

Aside from watching "Watsy" grow, family hobbies include horseback riding and swimming.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Shasberger
510 N. Dryden place
Arlington Heights

"One of your good neighbors in Arlington Heights showed us around the town and even helped us find a home," Mildred Shasberger, pictured at right with daughter Marjorie, remarked when asked how her family happened to move here.

The good neighbor in the City of Good Neighbors is Mr. Frank Busse, Highland avenue, who works with Mr. Shasberger for North American Accident Insurance company, Chicago.

"We've only been here since May 15," Mrs. Shasberger added, "but we've already adopted Arlington as an ideal home town. Baltimore, Florida, New York and other places we've lived can't compare with our new home town."

The Shasbergers have a daughter, Marjorie Ann, five years old. Marjorie, who was born in Pensacola, Fla., where her father was stationed as a Navy pilot, has done a good deal of traveling for a little girl her age. "This is the fifteenth house I've lived in," she told the reporter.

Chances for peace discussions open at Naperville

"National Government and World Government" will be discussed by Theodore Waller, of Washington, D. C., Friday evening, June 18, in the opening address at the Institute of International Relations, held by the American Friends Service Committee at North Central College, Naperville.

Mr. Waller, who was Chief of the UNRRA Mission to White Russia recently, will speak again Saturday morning, June 19, on "Can We Get Along With Russia?" with comments by Roy McKorkel and Irving Pfau.

There are to be public meetings each morning, afternoon, and evening for ten days at the Institute, whose theme is "Pathways to Peace," the schedule reveals.

The topic for Saturday, June 19, "What About Russia?" will be further explored in a session at 2 p. m. by Irving Pfau, foreign editor of the Chicago Sun-Times, who speaks on "Do the Russians Want War?" and in an evening speech titled "Communism at First Hand" by Bert J. Mitchell, who has just returned to this country after two years' work in Communist-dominated Hungary for the Relief Unit of the American Friends Service Committee.

Each of the addresses at the Institute is followed by comments, from a different point of view, by other faculty members, and then general discussion by the audience.

Complete information about the Institute can be obtained from the office of the American Friends Service Committee at 19 South Wells Street, Chicago 6.

COSTS OF FARM PRODUCTION HAVE RISEN MORE THAN LIVING COSTS IN THE CITY

Sources: U. S. Department of Agriculture
U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics

Prepared in Department of Agricultural Economics,
College of Agriculture,
University of Illinois

Costs at the End of World War II

Price controls during World War II were effective in holding down both the cost of living in cities and cost of farm production. In August 1945, if available, city consumers could buy for $129 the same quantity of goods that in the pre-war period cost $100. In comparison, in August 1945, it cost farmers $135 to buy what $100 would buy from 1935-39.

Rise in Cost of Living

Elimination of price controls since the war ended resulted in sharp increases in both city living costs and in farm production costs. City consumers, in December 1947, paid $167 for food, rent, clothing and other items that cost them $100 before the war.

Rise in Farm Production Costs

Costs of farm production rose even more rapidly than cost of living in cities. Farmers in October 1947, paid $191 for the same items that cost them $100 in the pre-war period.

Wages of farm labor in 1947 not included in the above items were nearly three and one-half times those paid before the war.

Agricultural Economics
University of Illinois

British Shipping
Despite heavy losses during the war years, Britain and Northern Ireland combined had only 43,237 tons less of shipping last year than they had at the outbreak of the war. Shipbuilding programs made possible the replacement of a major part of the losses.

AHTHS head describes adult education program

"Adult education at Arlington Heights township high school has fast become an interwoven part of the educational and leisure time activities of this community," is one of the important points stressed in a recent magazine article by LeRoy J. Knoepfel, high school principal.

The article appears in the June issue of Cook County Educational Digest, and describes the success of the adult evening program initiated in Arlington in 1947, which had an enrollment of 370 for fall and spring semesters.

According to Knoepfel, prior to 1947 the high school had sponsored a great books course and a clothing class, both of which were well attended.

"During the fall of 1947," the article states, "a series of courses, including beginning and second year great books was offered. Approximately 400 people enrolled. The tentative subjects were a result of judgment rather than a survey of community needs."

More than 20 courses were offered that first semester, and more than 30 courses were open to adults the second semester.

Teachers were selected from the high school as far as their abilities and interests permitted them to teach, but non-certified instructors who were specialists in their fields, also were hired. Knoepfel's article also described the adult council of four men and four women, chosen by the students, who planned future adult evening programs on the basis of student needs, and who arranged an exhibit and social activities at the end of the semester.

Three pictures accompanying the article show scenes from the dressmaking, millinery and general metals classes.

Scouters win awards

The Annual Camporee of the Northwest Suburban Council, held last week end at Camp Dan Beard, was attended by 300 scouts and scouters. Troops from all parts of the Northwest Suburban Council were represented. The 24 Troops participating were organized to do their camping, cooking and participation in the program on a patrol basis.

The camp opened Friday, June 11, with each patrol developing its own camp site. Friday evening a short campfire for the purpose of "tapping out" the newly elected Order of the Arrow candidates was held. The "tapping out" ceremony was under the leadership of James Olmsted, Lodge Chief and Pete DeVries, Ritual Team captain. Beginning Saturday morning, after a color ceremony and breakfast, the scouts participated in games and a mapping project.

After the noon meal, the patrols again carried out the field events, which consisted of a signaling contest, water boiling contest, fire by flint and steel and fire by friction relays. The Saturday night campfire was a program consisting mostly of scout talent, and the feature attraction was the "Chloe" presentation by Paul Byrd and James Dille, scouts of Troop 15.

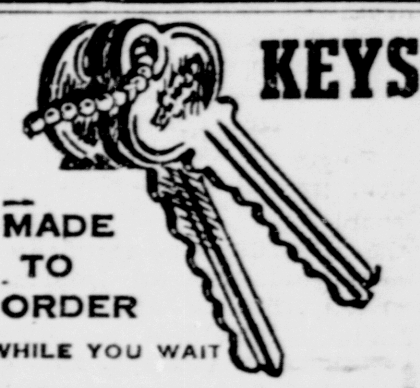

SUNDAY morning, scouts were given an opportunity to attend their own church, or they were invited to participate in the non-denominational church services at camp. The worship service was conducted by Rev. C. Victor Brown of Arlington Heights. The nature scavenger hunt, conducted by David Meineke, Troop 7, Arlington Heights; a bait casting demonstration by the Isaac Walton League of Des Plaines; and a Paul Bunyan Kitchen, featuring a mass production of flapjacks, were the main attractions of the day.

The Camporee closed with a final color ceremony and the announcement of the patrol ratings: The patrols and the ratings attained are listed as follows:

Arlington Heights: Troop 7, Elk Patrol "B", Hyena Patrol "B", Panther Patrol "B".
Mt. Prospect: Troop 23, Moose Patrol "C", Hyena Patrol "C".
Prospect Heights: Troop 36,

Moose Patrol "B".
Wheeling: Troop 18, Wolf Patrol "B".
Skokie: Troop 15, Wolf Patrol "B", Penguin Patrol "B", Blackhawk Patrol "B", Troop 26, Raven Patrol "B", Troop 31, Pine Tree Patrol "B", Panther Patrol "B".

Crowd applauds concert of Prospect Heights group

by VIOLA SPEARS

The Prospect Heights Choral Society of 34 voices gave a marvelous performance before a large, enthusiastic audience at its fourth annual concert, held at the Arlington Heights Township high school last Thursday evening.

The program was carefully arranged and was an impressive demonstration of excellent direction. There was no attempt at slap stick comedy to gain laughs; yet the chorus numbers of "Country Style," "Cindy" and the square dance, plus the men's chorus number "Dry Bones" had an indirect comedy approach which was delightful to the ear as it was appealing to the eye.

Looking at the entire program in a critical viewpoint, from its opening number through to the grand finale, it went down in our book as the finest of all the choral concerts. It appeared that Director Mrs. Phyllis D. Snettinger was not content to dwell on a mere handful of works but had been inclined to go exploring in the realm of choral novelty. And, with a group whose love for singing was clearly evident, she secured beneficial effects of heroic proportions. The chorus sang with a warmth that enhanced the beauty of each number and, while the featured soloists contributed much to the enjoyment of the concert, their personality was not that of a star but just one of the group who had been singled out for the benefit of the whole group. Consequently, what the Choral Society presented was a well balanced program, one that was worth traveling miles to hear.

OPENING with a group of four numbers, "Let All My Love Be Music," "So Well I Know Who's Happy," "Chant of the Brahman's" and Kuntz's "Prayer," the choral unit reached its height with the fourth number, FLORADORA CHIC!

"Old hats are always good for a laugh," says Mrs. L. R. Hayes, 432 Englewood Avenue. "But looking ahead, won't today's be even funnier?" Mrs. Hayes' mother and father started taking Wanzers' home delivery when they came to Chicago in 1893. Styles have changed, but not the preference for Wanzers'. Three glasses a day, the Wanzers way, is a rule that thousands of families take at face value—for the glow of health and beauty. Enterprise 6700 is the magic number for home delivery.

Prospect Heights' Choral Director, Mrs. Phyllis D. Snettinger, leads choral singers to lofty heights.

a beautiful sacred selection. It coasted on this high plane of entertainment through two delightful trio numbers, "Little Boy Blue" and "Green Cathedral," sung by Louise Older, Gloria Chyrchel and Hazel Talbot. With a change in the pace the chorus returned singing a lively Russian number "Russian Picnic," a French number "Madame Jeanette," and closed with the "Sleigh" by Kuntz, a most interesting choral work.

The pace was continued when Gloria Chyrchel and Roy Goetschel sang "Because You're You" and "You Were Meant for Me," and repeated their hit number of last year, "Make Believe" as an encore.

The pace quickened when Dale Gilbert, baritone soloist, sang Visions Fugitive by Massenet, the Song of the Open Road by Malot, Tally-Ho by Leoni, and his encore number, Shoes. Gilbert displayed an excellent trained voice, a fine range of operatic quality and a pleasing stage personality. At the conclusion of his enjoyable portion of the program came the intermission which came all too soon.

UP TO THIS point we thought that the choral director, Mrs. Snettinger, had shown us the best of the group's numbers. But, when the program renewed, the audience was treated to some excellent showmanship. First the group sang "Country Style," then "Cindy" a delightful modern concert arrangement of a mountain dance tune, followed by a square dance, which elevated this year's concert to its standard classification. At this point Roy Goetschel sang "Hills of Home," with "The World is Mine Tonight," as an encore. "Dry Bones," one of the current hits for group singing came next, and sung by the Men's Chorus, it added considerable zip to the program. The Women's Chorus then sang "Symphony of Flowers" and "Years at the Spring" and the whole group participated in the grand finale, which consisted of five popular numbers from Gilbert and Sullivan's H. M. S. Pinafore.

As the crowd applauded the fine evening's entertainment Mrs. Snettinger was presented with a lovely bouquet of red roses—a token of appreciation of an en-

Board president tells 'whys' of school taxes

"Parents of grade school children should know why school tax dollars are on the increase," Nicholas M. Lattot, school board president of District 25, told the commencement audience last week.

Emphasizing that enrollment in Arlington Heights North and South schools had increased from 605 in 1945-46 to 775 in 1947-48, Lattot added that tax increases were being applied to higher salaries for present and additional staff members.

"Increased operation costs are not due only to building maintenance and payment of bonds," he explained to the audience. He also pointed out that future increased enrollments will call for more money to operate the school efficiently.

Salient points of his talk were: "We have a large graduating class of 70 this year. This is one of the finest groups that has ever completed our school system. We are proud of the fine work that our superintendent, principals, and teachers are doing.

"Our elementary school system offers as good an education as any system anywhere. We are proud of the facilities and of the staff we have. We know that you parents and taxpayers want us to continue to maintain this high standard. To do so, we must be willing to face some high tax bills. It costs us more today to eat, to wear clothes. It also costs us more to give our children a good education. All of these are essential. They are not luxuries. They are basic.

"Arlington Heights is a progressive, fast growing community. It must be a desirable place in which to rear children, for many of the new residents are young parents. They must like our schools and our other institutions.

"Note these figures of pupil enrollment in our elementary schools: 1945-46, 605; 1946-47, 630; 1947-48, 775; 1948-49, 950 (estimated).

"We are graduating 70 tonight. In their place, we estimate that no less than 150 will be in our kindergarten next year. In other words, the number coming in will be more than twice the number going out.

"It follows that more pupils need more rooms and more teachers, and these in turn mean more expenditures. From an educational budget of $63,173.00 in 1945-46, the figure went up to $129,229.00 in 1947-48 and the estimated figure for 1948-49 is $153,000.00.

"The increases in these amounts are primarily due to the increase in the number of teachers and staff and salary raises and not to cost of building and the payment of bonds. Of our and my current tax dollar, that is, the 1947 levy, only 21c went to pay for the principal and interest of the bonds. The balance of 79c was spent on the payroll and operating and maintenance costs. We have had to increase our staff. Salaries have gone up and so have the costs of fuel and other supplies. And who of us is not aware of this fact?"

"I have indicated that we are anticipating a steady and marked increase in our enrollment. There are a lot of war babies coming of school age. We shall need more facilities and more teachers. It follows that more money will be needed. That fact cannot be escaped. Our pupil-

tem. We are proud of the fine work that our superintendent, principals, and teachers are doing.

teacher ratio is not low. It is rather creeping up to an uncomfortable position. We must not allow our class rooms to be overcrowded.

"Unless our taxing structure is changed, the money we need will have to come from taxes on real estate. It is unfortunate that, compared with other states in the Union, Illinois ranks very low in the aid it gives its schools. The last figure I saw was 37th down the ladder!

"We taxpayers and voters have the right to expect our state legislators at Springfield to give our schools more aid in this respect and thus raise our state to the rank of other progressive states in the Union, where Illinois, which is one of the richest states, belongs. Real estate taxes will be unavoidably high not only in Arlington Heights, but in all communities in Illinois, unless and until our legislators grant the schools more state aid. We voters of Illinois have a job to do."

Drop prize fish at Lake Zurich

Cash prizes await the lucky fisherman who catch tagged fish in the waters of Lake Zurich, according to a plan announced last week by the Lake Zurich Lions club. Merchants of that village donated a total of $250 which will be awarded the fortunate anglers. The fish, carrying identification tags, will be dumped into the lake Friday afternoon under the direction of Russell Carteron of Barrington, deputy state game warden. One of them will carry a tag redeemable for $50, and a third will have a tag worth $25. Ten others will carry rewards of $10 each.

Increase Crystal Lake fish families

The population of Crystal Lake has been increased by the addition of 500,000 to a million walleye pike. The tiny fish, hatched at the Spring Grove State Hatchery, arrived here by truck last Wednesday afternoon and anglers are happy over the future prospects of walleyes.

Guard that card, Social Security manager advises

As high school boys and girls prepare to exchange studies for summer jobs, Miss Ellen McGuire, manager of the Evanston office of the Social Security Administration, urges them not to overlook the importance of their social security cards. She gives the "why," the "where" and the "what to do" as follows:

WHY guard it?

Because it is the key to your insurance policy with Uncle Sam. You will need to show it to your employer on your next job in private industry or business—and on every such job.

You will need it when you or your survivors file a claim for benefits.

WHERE keep it?

Not in your jacket pocket, avenue.

(The jacket might go to the cleaner's and your card with it.) Not in your purse or bill fold. (It will wear out from handling. Also you might lose it.)

Put it in the safest place in the house—as you would an insurance policy.

Keep the lower part of the card in its special folder and put it in another safe place.

WHAT IF you lose it?

Don't ask for a new card. Ask for a duplicate card with the same number on it.

If you have two or more account numbers, it means that two or more accounts have been set up under your name in Baltimore, and when you file for benefits, you may lose some part of them.

Applications for account numbers may be secured at your local post office, except in Evanston where applicants secure forms at the Social Security Field Office, Room 407, State Bank Building, 1603 Orrington

Des Plaines man gets twenty years for counterfeiting

John G. Brennan, 1635 Stockton, Des Plaines, has been sentenced to 20 years' imprisonment by Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan, on two charges involving secret printing of counterfeit bills for a Chicago counterfeit ring.

Brennan was among those testifying against ring leader Stephen "Steve" Karavias, in the Wednesday, June 3 hearing in Federal court. He admitted being the gang's printer and testified: "Steve and I cut up a sheet of $10 notes and dipped them in a blue solution to give them the appearance of age."

Several raids by U. S. Secret Service men led to arrest of the group and last week's subsequent trial.

Tax facts...

In Eldorado Township in McDonough County, the tax bill paid last year on a 161 acre farm was $303.16, a considerable increase over the preceding year. The tax bill, this year on exactly the same land calls for $553.60, an increase of 82 per cent. This is a tax of $3.44 an acre.

Senator T. Mac Downing, who lives in the City of Macomb in McDonough County, and is one of the ablest members of the General Assembly, writes as follows: "...how a thing of this kind could happen in the face of House Bill 513, which the writer handled in the Senate, is beyond me. It was my understanding that House Bill 513 definitely prevented an increase of 82 per cent in the dollar and cents taxes in any year. I would appreciate it if you would give me your ideas about this situation."

Senator T. Mac Downing need have no uneasy conscience.

The General Assembly can protect the taxpayers only by putting a limit on the amount of taxes that local governments can raise without going to the people at an election for increased taxing power. The General Assembly can require that notice of such an election to increase taxing power must be published, sufficiently in advance of the election to enable the taxpayers to find out the facts, and can insure that the ballot at the election shall set forth clearly what the people are voting on.

These things the General Assembly did when it enacted H. B. 513 at the last session. The taxpayers of Illinois are indebted to Senator T. Mac Downing who guided the bill through the Senate, to Representative Orville Hodge and the other members of the House who sponsored the bill, and to the other Senators and Representatives who played an active part in the enactment of it.

The General Assembly, by enacting H. B. 513, protected the taxpayers against sky-rocketing taxes by action of the local governments themselves.

There is no way in the world that the General Assembly can protect the taxpayers against the actions that the taxpayers themselves take in voting on propositions that will result in increased taxing power, or against their own indifference or failure to vote.

That is what happened in Eldorado Township.

The people in 1947 voted for a consolidation of grade-school districts. This created a new district. Any new taxing district created after January 1, 1946, is not subject to the tax rate limitation provisions of H. B. 513. Whereas the grade school tax rate on the farm for 1946 taxes was 14½¢ on each $100 of full value, the current tax rate of the consolidated district is 68 8/10¢.

When the people voted for the consolidation, they may not have known that they were at the same time voting an increase in taxing power. In fact, the owner of the farm says: "The farmers down there were told when the matter was voted on, at least in some cases, that there would be no increase in cost. Some of this increase was due to the high school district, but most of it was due to the new three-room school established at Eldorado Hall."

The responsibility is upon the taxpayers to know what the taxpayers to know what they are voting on—and to vote. They have to get the facts, and then act on the basis of the facts, if they are going to protect their property. The amount of taxes that the taxpayers pay is money that the local governments want to spend. The General Assembly can—and did—guarantee to the taxpayers that their local tax bills could not continue to sky-rocket unless the local taxpayers at a local election voted to allow them to continue to sky-rocket. That is what happened in Eldorado Township. Now, the only hope that local taxpayers have in Eldorado Township, and others who are similarly situated, is to band together for the purpose of finding out the facts and then, on the basis of the facts, acting together to persuade their local governments to hold down their spending of taxpayers' money.

It Happened Here

Melvin was the unpredictable, the trouble maker, the one who was always liable to be where he ought not to be and the group was aware of it. The kindergarten were being shown animal pictures of babies with their mamma, cows with their calves, sheep with their lambs and so forth; the last picture was of a mamma pig, with her babies getting their dinner while a small boy watched through the fence. "You see," said the teacher, "some mamma does not like visitors; this mamma does not want anyone in the pen with her babies, so if you are ever on a farm do not climb over the fence where the baby pigs are—the mamma might not like it." She held the picture closer. "Now, looking through the fence, what do you see?" One small boy raised a hand. "Melvin," he said, his eyes dancing. "Melvin!" said Teacher in a shocked voice. "Are you in the pig yard?" Get out at once!" Melvin just looked sheepish and giggled softly; the whole group enjoyed the joke. . . . An outside woman on the transcontinental train never missed a call to the diner; she complimented the quality of the food to her porter. "Yes, m," he answered whenever you comes through that diner door, you increases and increases."

Tales of the STREET

BY T. C. HART

● FOXY BIRDS

Anyone who has the idea that birds are dumb creatures should have heard the story we heard the other day about some blackbirds on the outskirts of Chicago.

A housewife had the habit of tossing out whole slices of stale bread for the birds. Some foxy blackbirds carried the slices to the bird bath, gave them a good soaking, and then flew to the nests with the soft bread to feed their youngsters.

● JOE'S CACTUS

The season for weather-predicting cactus is over. They are in dormant state now waiting to cook up weather reports for next winter and spring. Other species of cactus in bloom, however, are producing some wonderful flowers.

The other evening Joe Brzostowski said he wanted to show us something in Joe's private park next to his place at Chicago avenue and Quintans road. It was a blooming cactus whose beauty rivaled the glory of the blazing setting sun.

Joe says cactus plants are his hobby and he has a couple of big ones that promise to furnish more flaming beauty during the season.

And Joe also has a private fishpond well-stocked with black bass, silver bass, bluegills, bull heads and all manner of fish. His pond is spring-fed with an ample supply of clear, fresh water.

While local fishermen are chasing all over the North American continent for fish, Joe can go out in his own yard and in half an hour catch a string that make those traveling fishermen green with envy.

Joe likes the country and when he can get mechanics to complete the improvements on his place, he intends to rent half of it for a grocery and delicatessen to furnish folks of that neighborhood all the necessities right close to home.

With his park, fish pond and cactus plants, Joe can live like a feudal baron on his estate. But Joe isn't a feudal baron; he is a mighty friendly fellow who likes to enjoy things and have his friends enjoy them with him.

● RABBIT RAIDERS

Rabbits are getting into the hair of Chief Charley Folz these days.

Just when police are trying to run down who is doing some careless shooting, some rate citizens whose gardens have been ruined by rabbits. These citizens want permission to shoot the pesky rabbits. From reports, the raiders are being shot, permission or no permission.

Reports are coming in that the rabbits are eating up all the peas, beans and tomato plants and making life a nightmare for the gardeners.

● DRY

Speaking of dry weather, this has been the worst early season drought in many years.

Early planted crops got a start, but seeds planted recently just remain dormant in the dry ground.

It is surprising how well farm crops look in spite of it all, but some real moisture is needed or the small grains will begin to fire.

One farmer who says it always rains when he cuts alfalfa wanted the rain to hurry up, so he started on his alfalfa field.

Usually when we start wearing a new straw hat, it pours, but we were one for three straight days last week, and no result.

Barney Stein washed his car for the first time in three months, and a few drops did start to fall Saturday morning, but Barney said, "This is only a dry shower; it isn't going to amount to anything."

And so it goes—all signs fail. And by the way, reports from Mayor DePue in Florida tell of nine weeks without rain.

● ONE HOPE

But there's one big hope left. Arlington Park opens Monday, June 21, and Arlington can always change the weather. If there has been a long dry spell, it rains on opening day, or during the first week. We can remember when it poured down on Arlington on opening day after a long dry time.

● EDDIE A BUSY BOY

Talking about fishermen, we met Ed Haseman the other day for the first time in weeks and he wanted us to know he'd been in Canada with the boys and had caught plenty of fish.

We told him we didn't even know he was gone until we heard he had sent a big box of fish home to the family. But Ed has been "tapping around" so fast looking after his many interests he's a hard bird to keep track of.

However, we have run him and Fred Oswald to earth a couple of times to hear how the new park grading is coming along.

From what we gather, Ed and Fred have saved the park district a wad of dough. They seem to have shelved the plans of the master-minders to some extent, and are saving black dirt for top dressing, instead of just scraping it in with the rest of the grading job.

That saving of black dirt alone amounts to about a $12,000 figure.

Then the boys are also saving considerable money on the proposed drainage and other features, and the park board is not having to pay a percentage for inspection on everything they do in connection with their park improvement.

Shows what can be done by a couple of local boys with the community interest at heart.

● WEEDS

Of course, if they're going to build that new depot, there really isn't any use in keeping up the depot parks this year. However, from present indications the new depot won't be started so fast, and it would look a lot neater around the historic old relief if the grass and weeds were cut while waiting for the big day to come.

If an organization wanted to do a good deed, they could keep those little parks in order this summer.

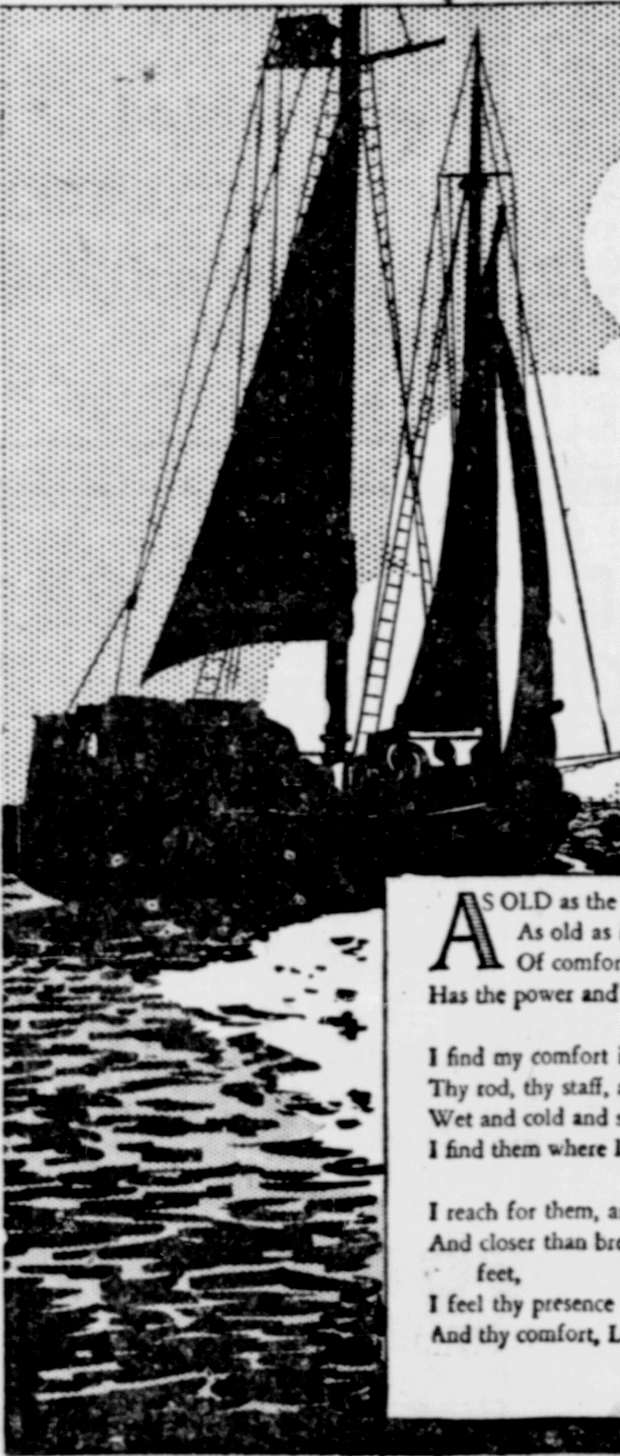

But if it must be left a waste land, those field daisies that are blooming there are pretty, anyway.

● RABBIT CURE?

Bill Kehe says a friend of his having a lot of trouble with rabbits raiding his garden, solved the problem by placing a big bottle at each end of the garden plot. It must be a light colored bottle; darker ones won't work.

This bottle business has been tried before. Martin Plate, who had a garden out our way one year says it stopped the rabbits on his property, while another neighbor who tried it had the pesky animals roaming in and out among the bottles.

Anyhow, those folks beset by rabbits might try it. George Vehe has been one of the sufferers from rabbit raids. Let's have him try the bottle cure and make a report.

THY ROD AND THY STAFF

SOLD as the green pastures of the earth,
As old as its quiet waters, is the need
Of comfort for the heart, and One alone
Has the power and will to heed.

I find my comfort in thy symbols, Lord:
Thy rod, thy staff, and like a small lost lamb,
Wet and cold and shivering through the night,
I find them where I am.

I reach for them, and they are in thy hands,
And closer than breathing, nearer than hands and feet,
I feel thy presence wrapping me about,
And thy comfort, Lord, is sweet.

A mother beseeches parents to help in restraining 'thrill mad' teen-age minority

THRILL MAD

The recent letters you printed on "youth liberties" of today were very interesting. I am the mother of a high school boy and I have often wished that the mothers of the girls my son dates would be a little more interested in the hours their daughters return home from dates. It is embarrassing for a boy to have to be in at a certain hour when his date has no restrictions, and this holds true for both a prom and a movie date.

I have often deplored the drinking among the high school crowd today and it is a relief to know someone else shares my views. I have often wondered whether the parents of the high school crowd really know what is going on or whether they are so trusting they just go to bed and sleep soundly, never knowing in what condition their boy or girl returns home.

Do you mothers and fathers of high school boys and girls know that a large group of teen agers in our town, including high school students, rented a local hall many times this past winter and that the drinking at these parties was so excessive that the boys and girls passed out cold? Do you know that at one of these parties a young teen age girl was raped? Do you know that this crowd apparently became so "thrill mad" that some of them resorted to smoking Marijuana cigarettes and that at one of these parties seven negro teen agers from Chicago were present and that they were invited? In all fairness, it should be said that these colored youths were better behaved than our local youth.

Do you know all these things, you trusting mothers and fathers, or are you so blind in your devotion you think your son or daughter would be above that sort of thing? Finally, the doors of this local hall were closed to this crowd, when the facts became known, and when it was learned these parties were never chaperoned. After that, this thrill-mad gang gathered at one of the most notorious, disreputable places in Cook County, and for all I know, they still do.

I often wondered why the proper educational and law enforcement authorities never put a stop to all this. For the most part, the boys and girls in this crowd come from our so called "better" homes. Is this the goal we seek for our youth today? Don't we care where they are heading? Can their prom parties last 24 hours, crossing the state border, unchaperoned?

Mrs. Grant says juvenile delinquency blame can be placed in the parents' laps, and nothing is truer.

Thank God that for the most part, our high school boys and girls are clean minded, morally responsible citizens, but the minority can certainly heap shame and disgrace on the whole community.

When high school girls are allowed to drink and stay out all night, it makes it pretty hard to keep the boys in line. Won't mothers of girls give this a little thought?

Mother of a Teen Age Boy
Arlington Heights.

Editor's Note: Some rather strong statements are made by the above writer. It would probably be difficult to prove them, but the editor believes there is sufficient truth in the letter to warrant its publication. The editor hopes that aroused parents of next year's high school pupils will individually see to it that similar charges can not be made next year.

STREET WIDENING

In reply to the South Dunton street property owner who complained through the Fence Post that the car of the police magistrate and others were blocking the area adjoining his property, I want to say that the police magistrate is not using that street for a parking lot.

Street widening will be an asset to the business district and I hope that the complaining land owner will be willing to do his part in making possible the widening.

The police are doing an excellent job in control of parking in Arlington Heights. Autoists are cooperating. The willingness of property owners to be assessed for the widening program will help to alleviate the parking problem.

SUES FOR DAMAGES

Harry A. Ascher has sued Otto A. Stender in the Superior court for $30,000 damages for injuries while Ascher was operating fire apparatus. Oct. 28 last year Ascher was working at a fire in Niles at Milwaukee and Imlay aves. and was run into and injured by Stender driving a car.

STREET WIDENING

As a parent of small children and a property owner, I am deeply concerned regarding the proposed plan to widen the streets in the residential area as set forth in last week's Arlington Heights Herald.

While I am all for the advancement of the village, I am also conscious of the fact that such an undertaking for the benefit of commuters and others are at the extreme expense of those property owners who would be affected—not only in dollars, but for peace of mind of their families, and the privilege of having commuters cars parked in front of one's home continuously.

I agree, it is comparatively simple, to criticize a plan, which, no doubt, has had the benefit of a great deal of thought and effort on someone's part, but to come up with a constructive alternative solution requires a "bit of standing still" and thought.

Let's pause for a second and have the originators of the plan place themselves and their home and family in the position of one who would be affected. Let them visualize the hazards to their small children; the possible destruction of the old Elm shade trees, picturing their homes without the benefit of those grand trees, of which I'm sure everyone is proud! That together with the expense involved, which certainly won't be to the benefit of the property owner, should give one a pretty fair picture of what is running through our minds.

In my book I can think of several alternate ideas which may or may not be more equitable.

1. Repose a special village vehicle tax, to include not only villagers but also those car owners who reside outside the village limits who would also be using the proposed parking facilities. With these funds plus any state aid, widen one block (or more than one if a competent survey reveals the need of more than that) on both sides of the street in a block zoned for business purposes. (This street plan adequately provided the solution for the village of Winnetka which suffered from the same "growing pains" in regard to parking facilities.)

2. On the same basis of raising revenue and/or proposing a bond issue based on future years increased Vehicle Revenues, (or 12 hour parking privilege, fees) have the village condemn and purchase vacant property and thereby create additional all day parking facilities.

By the above reasoning one can measure my concern at the proposed widening plan. It would be appreciated if in the future any discussions on this subject would be publicly set forth before and so that any other property owners, as well as myself, would be given the opportunity to raise an opinion when the outcome would jeopardize one's happiness, home and pocketbook. I feel that the proposed street widening project as it stands, should be abandoned.

Editor's Note: Paddock Publications did not definitely state in last week's story the extent of the proposed street widening. Such a story appears in this issue.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do the marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of waste impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide disease. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passage are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. (See Don's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Don's. Sold at all drug stores.)

But even at that the city may be able to pay for the meters within two years' time, a shorter period than expected by some.

Modern Etiquette

Q.—Is it necessary to reply to a wedding invitation?

A.—Not if the invitation is to the church ceremony alone. However, if the invitation is accompanied by cards of invitation to a breakfast or reception following the ceremony, an immediate answer in writing—accepting or declining—should be sent.

Q.—Is it necessary for a woman to remove her gloves when shaking hands?

A.—A woman never removes her gloves to shake hands, no matter when or where, and never apologizes for wearing them.

Q.—What is the "correct" way to eat fruits, such as apples and peaches, at the table?

A.—Peel the apple or peach with a small silver fruit knife, cut it into quarters, and then convey to the mouth with the fingers.

Q.—How long should a wedding ring be worn after the husband has died?

A.—A widow continues to wear the wedding ring during her lifetime, unless she becomes engaged to marry a second time. Following the announcement of her engagement, she ceases to wear her first wedding ring.

Q.—Should a stenographer rise when visitors to the office approach her desk?

A.—Not necessarily. She would do so for a stranger or an important person, but not to greet one who comes to the office regularly.

Q.—Is it correct to put broken crackers into the soup?

A.—Crackers are never broken into the soup.

Q.—In an informal introduction, is the mere pronouncing of names permissible?

A.—Yes; "May I present" is not necessary. You may accentuate the more important person's name with a slightly rising inflection.

Q.—When dining with a man in a public place, does the woman give her order direct to the waiter?

A.—No; the woman tells her own preference and he in turn gives the order to the waiter.

Q.—Is it good form to have "Miss" before an unmarried girl's name on a calling card?

A.—It most certainly is; in fact, the omission of the title "Miss" is a social error.

Q.—Should a person rise when being toasted at a banquet?

A.—It is not necessary.

Bits o' business

The cost of doing business in department stores rose two per cent on sales in 1947, marking the sharpest advance since 1932.

Half of the rise was ascribed to higher payroll costs. . . . Consumer credit climbed to another record high in April, with a gain during that month of $219,000,000 bringing to $13,596,000,000 the total volume of credit outstanding on retail buying. . . . Mass vacations are taking hold, with entire plants shutting down in order to give all employees a simultaneous holiday. . . . The chemical industry is on the road to new production records. . . . Soybean producers are worried about a decline in output. Despite the fact that soybeans are worth about five per cent more than they were in 1947, farmers have planted less this year. More profit in corn. . . . Meat production in the third quarter this year is expected to be 10 per cent less than the like period a year ago. Gwilym A. Price, president of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation, predicts that the use of electricity in the United States will climb 72 per cent during the next decade to an annual consumption rate of about 374 billion kilowatt hours.

Legion urges all children to visit Freedom Train

The Freedom Train, now touring the United States, containing many precious American historical documents, is scheduled to be in Chicago from July 5 to 9.

Cook county council of American Legion has requested the office of the county superintendent of schools to encourage pupils in every school to visit the train.

The council also is urging all American Legion posts in Cook county to provide transportation for school children to the Freedom Train exhibit area at Sixteenth street and Outer Drive. It is suggested that all groups arrive early in the morning to avoid disappointment if failing to gain admittance to the exhibits. The train can accommodate an estimated 1,200 visitors hourly moving at a leisurely walking pace.

July 2, prior to arrival of the Freedom Train, has been designated as Youth day to stimulate interest in arrival of the train. Outstanding feature will be a children's parade assembling at 1:30 p. m. on Columbus drive, south of Monroe street. Any school or organization within a school wishing to participate as a unit should contact the Traffic Section of Chicago Park District, 425 E. Fourteenth boulevard.

Although the school term has ended for a considerable number of school children, schools are being notified of the event so that any interested groups can participate.

Car registrations at all-time highs

Illinois passenger car registrations during 1947 soared to an all-time record of 1,746,432, exceeding the 1946 registration of 1,611,046 passenger cars, Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor Club, reported today.

Comparable gains obtained in every state, Mr. Hayes said, bringing car registrations throughout the nation to a total of 30,75 million cars, an increase of 9.4% over 1946. Total 1947 registrations, including commercial vehicles, were 37,883,265, a gain of 10.2 per cent, or 3,456,413 over the previous years.

Portending continuing increases in traffic congestion, especially in and around urban areas, is the startling fact that buses have increased 46.7 per cent and trucks 34.2 per cent over pre-war registration figures, compared to only a 4 per cent increase in passenger cars, the motor club executive said.

CRITICISM

When John Ruskin criticized one of Whistler's paintings, the famous artist sued and won damages of one farthing (half a cent). According to the World Book Encyclopedia, Whistler had the coin made into a watch charm and wore it proudly.

Draw up plans for improvements to county hospital

The county board Tuesday authorized its architect to draw up plans for rehabilitation of county hospital, in accordance with the voted bond issue.

Half the bonds for the project already have been sold. The remainder of the bonds are being held for a more favorable bond market.

A communication to the board by Fred A. Hertwig, warden of the hospital, suggested 24 specific improvements, ranging generally from electrical, repairs plumbing installations and modernizations, to bringing the hospital up to compliance with the city fire prevention ordinance.

Hertwig recommended changes which "will facilitate economical and efficient operation of the hospital and add to the comfort and care of patients."

Among improvements contemplated are the change-over from AC current, heating apparatus, rehabilitation of fire escapes and replacement of fire escape doors.

The plans also provide for repair to walls and roofs, extension of elevator in the main building to the basement level and installation of new cabs and enclosures. Warden Hertwig also contemplates enclosing all stairways and elevator shafts to comply with the fire ordinance and installation of two new dumb waiters in children's hospital.

There will be a rehabilitation of the entire tuberculosis building which will make it possible to move some of the services in the over-crowded areas in the main building and psychopathic hospital.

Get green light on new city hall at Park Ridge

Work on the reconditioning of the Carpenter home as a Park Ridge city hall will start Monday and will require approximately 30 days, according to W. F. McCaughey, of the architectural firm of McCaughey and Peterson, retained by the city to design and supervise the remodeling of the building.

The project was given the go ahead signal Tuesday night when the city council voted 7 to 1 to accept the bid of the Hatfield Construction Co. to remodel the structure at a cost of $13,872.

AND ANOTHER THING...VETERANS MAY PAY GI INSURANCE PREMIUMS TO VA ON A MONTHLY, QUARTERLY, SEMI-ANNUAL OR ANNUAL BASIS

Gabriel and Bert Zaffano, P. Valera and A. Salerno have sued W. V. Carey in the Superior court for injuries in an automobile accident near Northbrook April 3. Gabriel was driving a car in Skokie highway near Tower road. It is charged that Carey was driving in the wrong lane. Gabriel asks $10,000 damages, Valera $25,000 and the others $500 each.

Vets give up insurance, beneficiaries losers

While the Grim Reaper has been taking his toll among the veterans of World War I, Spanish-American and the Civil War, little thought has been given to his activities among survivors of the last great conflict—World War II.

An Illinois Veterans Commission service officer in Pike county reported recently that since July, 1946 there have been sixteen deaths among World War II vets in that one county. A significant part of his report was that of the 16, only one had maintained his National Service Life Insurance.

The families of the fifteen veterans who had not retained or reinstated their service life insurance were deprived of extra income totalling $150,000. This $150,000 would have provided a big measure of security to the families left behind.

NATIONAL Service Life Insurance was created by the government to give every man or woman who entered the armed forces an opportunity to protect their loved ones at a minimum cost. When the war was over the government offered servicemen an opportunity to continue this war-time insurance at the same low rate they paid in service.

The offer is still in effect. By paying two premiums (at the same rate as paid in service) an amount from $1,000 to $10,000 of insurance can be reinstated and can be converted to a variety of policies tailored to fit individual needs.

Service officers of the Illinois Veterans Commission have been instructed in advising and assisting veterans on their insurance program. Processing and filing of applications for reinstatement are carried on by all of the 142 offices of the commission. There is at least one office in every county with 18 in Cook county.

In Cook county the service officer is Walter S. Haynes. The office is located at 41 South Prospect avenue, Park Ridge, Illinois.

Announce new program of expansion for Aurora Military Academy

An expansion program for Marmion Military academy and Marmion abbey, Aurora, Illinois, has been announced by the Benedictine Fathers. Marmion Military Academy has been conducted by the Benedictine Fathers since 1933 for the education of youth in this area.

A Catholic prep school and honor military institute, Marmion has students not only from the Fox Valley but also from the Chicago metropolitan area and from sixteen states, Alaska, Mexico and South America.

A long-range plan has been formulated to meet the demand of an increased student enrollment.

When circumstances permit, new facilities for the resident cadets of the academy will be erected on a new site near Aurora purchased for this purpose. On this site will also be erected the Monastery, which will serve not only as the faculty house for the Benedictine Fathers and Brothers, but also as the training school for new members who will become future teachers at Marmion Military academy.

The new site for this development has just been acquired, according to an announcement made Wednesday, May 26, by the Right Reverend Gerald Benkert, Abbot of Marmion Abbey. The property is on Butterfield road, east of the Fox River, three miles north of Aurora; it is approximately 36 miles west of Chicago.

SUES FOR OVERCHARGE

Gordon Nelson has sued Philip Lehman in the Superior court for triple damages under the price control law for overcharging him for an auto trailer. On May 2, 1946, it is charged Lehman was conducting a used car sales place at Higgins and York roads. He sold Nelson a house trailer for $1479. Nelson charges the price should have been $485 by price control rates. So he claims he was overcharged $994 and should have $2,982 damages which so far he has not been able to collect.

The little woman rates higher than Dad, but there's a reason

Although women are responsible for seventy to eighty per cent of the total spending in the United States, the little woman's purchasing power is not up to standard on Father's Day. Papa, who during the year spends only a fraction of the money he earns, is a joy and delight to his Mother's Day buying spree. Mother, with all her yearly buying power, runs a poor second when it comes to buying gifts to celebrate Father's Day.

Many observers believe that Father may discourage gift buying—knowing that such expenditures result in bills which he will have to pay next month.

The research editor of the World Book Encyclopedia reports that large department stores do not have exact figures available to compare purchasing on the two holidays. But, all merchandisers agree that the volume turnover is much higher before Mother's Day.

Mental casualties
Doctor Ward's Notebook

A NEW TECHNIQUE for studying and treating mental breakdown in soldiers as a result of their war experiences has been developed by Army psychiatrists. Narcosynthesis (a technical word indicating the state of semi-sleep during which the patient pieces together past events leading to his breakdown) has been found to be of inestimable value in the restoration to mental health of men with battle fatigue.

THE EMOTIONAL TORTURE to which many young men in combat have been subjected is great enough to bring about breakdown of the healthiest and best adjusted soldier. His overwhelming fears are forced into the back of his mind where, not truly forgotten, they smolder insidiously, becoming powerful pent-up anxieties which are retained long after firing ceases. Some of the outward manifestations of these deep, inner fears are amnesia, anxiety, depression, stupor, hysterical blindness, and hysterical paralysis. These symptoms are faulty methods by which the terrified soldier attempts to cope with his battle experiences. The purpose of psychiatric therapy is careful release of these deep-seated nervous and mental tensions, thereby making the symptoms no longer necessary for the patient.

NARCOSYNTHETIC TREATMENT is carried out in a partially darkened room. A sleep-producing drug—the newly discovered pentothal—is injected into the patient until he reaches a twilight state, neither fully conscious nor asleep. It is then suggested to him that he is again on the battlefield and experiencing the reactions which he felt at that time. He is urged to describe his feelings and emotions. Under the influence of the drug, even the most withdrawn and resistant patient will begin to describe the details of his actual part in the fighting. As he becomes more engrossed in the telling of his story, he often begins to enact battle scenes as realistically as though he were again in action. He cries out to his companions, jumps into imaginary trenches, ducks bombs he believes are shooting over him.

When he becomes extremely fearful or upset, the doctor reassures him that he is now in safe hands and will not be harmed. He assures the soldier of the security of the hospital and points out that he will not be returned to the front. With proper guidance by the doctor the patient learns that it is possible to face his fears as they are released. Having once gotten these terrifying ideas off his chest, so to speak, he begins to lose the neurotic symptoms to which he has been clinging. The mute speak, the blind see, the paralyzed are able to walk.

FOLLOWING THIS TREATMENT, the patient spends considerable time with the doctor in attempting to comprehend the relationship between his inner feelings and outer symptoms. With confidence that he is in understanding and sympathetic hands, he gradually learns to dispel his fears in later treatments. The more he understands of his unconscious hostility and emotional conflicts, the less evident are his symptoms. He learns to accept the fact that he is neither a coward nor an abnormal individual. He discovers that facing his released emotions is more effective than is repression with its resultant neurotic symptoms. Finally he is able to look upon his experiences without fear or undue emotion. With the disappearance of his pent-up anxiety, his symptoms completely vanish.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER
 by LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL
 Well, folks, here we are again, knocking at your door asking for a hand out!
 It seems that the government never gets caught up with the cost of living as far as the mail men are concerned. Long after almost all other employees, working for private firms, have struck for and gotten higher wages, often on the recommendation of the government itself, the politicians down in Washington potter around, wondering if they can get away with holding the letter carriers down to a wage below subsistence level, while they send billions to Europe so that those foreign countries can get back on their feet and healthy enough to start another war.
 There are letter carriers, many of them men who fought in this last World War to preserve the Four Freedoms who are working for twenty one hundred dollars a year—about forty dollars a week before deductions—and trying to support a family. Men who have to take a stiff entrance examination, give references, and be honest, intelligent, dependable and of high character! How could you live—I mean really live—on forty dollars a week?
 Radio commentators, newspapers, other labor organizations have gone to the front for the mail men. Over and over again, through letters, speeches and editorials, they have been hammering away at the law makers in Washington. Practically every one I talk to is in favor of a raise for the mail men. Yet the politicians still want to play politics with our wage bills!
 There is something you can do about it, too, folks. Set down at your desk tonight and write your senators and representatives to get busy on a raise for the mail men. Tell them how much you appreciate your carrier's service, and how much he needs a raise.
 We will all appreciate it, I assure you! Don't delay—do it today!

Urge consideration for disabled veterans driving autos
 Secretary of State Edward J. Barrett today broadcast a message to all Illinois motorists urging them to extend special courtesy to drivers of vehicles whose license plates bear the notation, "Disabled Veteran."
 The owners of such vehicles, he said, are war veterans amputees or paraplegics, who have qualified for automobiles from the federal government. These men, he added, were given driving tests in the specially equipped automobile maintained by the Secretary of State's Office and their own cars also have the necessary hand equipment, outside mirrors and other special apparatus to enable them to operate the vehicles manually.
 More than 600 "Disabled Veteran" plates already have been issued, Mr. Barrett reported. Automobile investigators from his office are communicating with the approximately 500 other veterans who are eligible for the plates, but obtained regular licenses before the distinctive plates were available. An exchange may be made, he said.

Corn borer less threatening now

"Weather has taken its toll on corn borers," states Farm Adviser C. A. Hughes. "The hot, dry weather of the past few days has killed many of the insects. Apparently we need not have too much fears of any severe damage. However, we suggest sweet corn growers to note carefully absence of egg deposits before omitting any sprays for borers. However, the State Entomologist Mr. H. B. Petty says that borers are at a reduced level at the present time."

Young pigs need high protein levels

Healthy pigs fed on pasture following weaning need a ration containing a minimum of 16 percent protein until they reach 75 pounds in weight, at which time the protein requirements drop to 14 to 15 percent. The following is a suggested ration for this period:

300 pounds shelled corn
100 pounds fine ground oats
100 pounds 40% pasture supplement

If your pigs will eat the feeds in these proportions from a self-feeder, that is probably the most satisfactory way to do it. Allow one opening of the feeder for each 4 to 5 pigs.

Oats contain 12 percent protein compared with 9.5 percent for good corn. Therefore, if they are omitted, you will need to increase the proportion of supplement to grain from 1:4 to 1:1.4.

IF YOU USE a 59 percent pasture supplement, such as two parts tankage and 1 part linseed meal, in the ration, the required ratio of supplement to corn and oats will be 1:5.

Normally self-fed pigs will eat about the proportions suggested. Don't worry too much if pigs just weaned eat slightly more than 16 percent minimum of protein. The younger they are, the higher their requirements. However, if they eat too much protein as they approach the 75-pound weight, you may need to do something to limit it. Frequently you can do this by mixing the supplement with the oats.

Fly control moves ahead

At least two-thirds of Illinois 204,000 farms will be treated for fly control this year, according to a preliminary county survey conducted by H. B. Petty, entomologist with the University of Illinois and State Natural History Survey.

County farm advisers reported that 64 percent of the farms and 464 Illinois towns and villages will be going all-out to rid their areas of flies. About one-half of the towns in the state are making an organized effort to control flies. Another one-fourth, while not declaring open warfare against the fly hordes, will be gunning for flies. The remaining one-fourth have reported no fly control activity so far.

The survey shows a definite enthusiasm for the fly control program," asserts Petty. "While we are over the hump in organization of the program, there is much work left to be done."

The time is ripe to launch the spraying phase of the control program, Petty said. Hand and power sprayers can be used to spread fly-killing DDT.

Job Of Making Farm Work Easier Is One Task That Has No Ending

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

The development of time and labor saving equipment for farm use is a never-ending job. Typical examples of this continuing program of research and production are the electrically operated hay hoist and a silo unloader.

SHOWN ABOVE is a cut-away view of a silo unloader in operation, with ensilage being blown down the chute and into a cart.

The hay hoist appeared on the market several years ago, whereas the silo unloader is one of the newer pieces of farm electrification equipment. Both, however, are products of the currently expanding "push button" farming age.

As a result, the flip of a switch now sets in motion the machinery which hoists hay into the barn mow. The team of horses or tractor, which used to spend hours on the end of the hoisting rope, are now freed for more productive work. And so is their driver. For the hoisting and storage chore now can be guided by one man from a place on the wagon. In operation, hay is lifted, as desired, to an overhead track in the mow as the hoisting rope winds around a drum. It moves along the carrier until the operator stops its progress and releases the load. A weighted pull-back rope or a second drum returns the hay carrier to the mow entrance in preparation for another trip. Hoists generally are operated by a motor of 3 to 5 horsepower. The cost of hoisting hay averages about 1/4 kilowatt hour of power per ton.

The silo unloader was designed to put another farm "hand job" on a mechanical basis and to eliminate many miles of weary climbing. The unloading mechanism hangs over the ensilage and follows it down as the silo is emptied. Curved blades, which are attached to a rotating boom, "work" the ensilage to the center of the silo where it is blown down the chute. The unloader is operated by a clutching mechanism mounted on the barn floor. It is necessary to climb into the silo only about once every ten days to move the ensilage blower pipe down one more rung on the chute ladder, to which it is attached.

The machine skims off ensilage evenly. Also, it handles frozen ensilage, breaking it up ready to feed. The unloader is operated by a 3-horsepower motor.

'One fly in town more dangerous than 1,000 in country'

"Townpeople may fail to realize that one fly in town has more disease carrying potentiality than 1,000 in the country," stated H. B. Petty, State Extension Entomologist. "City people have better sewage, water, milk pasteurization, medical, service, etc., than country people, but because of concentration of population disease is more to be avoided. A case of sickness in the country is separated by long distance in the country, but one case of polio in town is close by to hundreds of other children."

"Town people have no manure piles, but many maintain small piles of grass clippings, garbage compost heaps, etc., which will breed flies. These should be buried or scattered. It has been established that compost heaps are not too valuable as fertilizer. Some gardeners scatter them in gardens where they will dry, and such fertility as is present will not be lost. Garbage can be buried. Garbage cans should be emptied twice weekly and sprayed with DDT once a week. Grass clippings are often left on the lawn. City people need to watch for fly breeding places as much as farmers. Garbage dumps are a menace and need careful supervision by city officials."

Cows Inspected

Ray E. Meyer, Roselle, has recently had an additional number of animals in his herd inspected and classified for type. The Holstein-Friesian Association of America announces today. The inspection was conducted by S. B. Hall, Troutdale, Ore., one of the nine officials appointed by the Association to do this work in the United States.

Among the animals classified in this herd, 3 were designated "very good" the second highest score an animal can receive; and 5 scored "good plus."

This is the 6th time this herd has been classified for type. The type classification, com-

Dust causes tractor wear

Much of the wear in your tractor engine is caused by abrasive dust—dust carried by the air. The engine uses about 9,000 cubic feet of air to one of gasoline, and that's enough air to fill an average-sized house, according to Farm Adviser C. A. Hughes.

While the tractor is working in the field, the air is bound to carry a great deal of abrasive dust, and dust is a main cause of internal engine wear. The air cleaner is on the tractor to trap the dust. However, it can't trap dust if it's clogged with dirt. It must be kept clean.

Proper servicing of the air cleaner amounts to more than just changing the oil at regular intervals. It means looking for all points where dust or air may enter the engine. It means keeping the filters clean.

Dust often enters the engine through holes in the air-intake line and the hose connections. Wear around the carburetor throttle shaft also permits dust to enter the engine.

Paying regular attention to the air cleaner and air passage is one of the best ways to prolong the life of parts in the tractor engine.

Early Day Traveling

Traveling in the early days of railroading was quite a hardship. Night travel was particularly difficult. The male traveler hung his coat on one of the wall hooks, put his feet upon the seat in front, if there was room, then lay back and went to sleep—if he could. The womenfolk could not be so comfortable, for it was not seemly for them to lift what were known as their extremities off the floor. They merely sat and dozed. At night the cars were lighted by one candle at each end, stuck in candlesticks near the doors.

Combined with a production testing program, is used as a means of proving sires and locating outstanding brood cow families in an owner's herd.

Eleven Palatine Ag. students compete for corn honors

Eleven vocational agriculture students in the Palatine high school are entered in a Hi-Yield Corn Growing contest limited exclusively to vocational agriculture students in the state of Illinois. The contest is being sponsored by the Pioneer Hi-Bred Corn company of Illinois as an aid in stimulating the fine home project program for vocational agriculture students. The home farm is the laboratory for the farm boy studying Vocational Agriculture in high school to put into practice the things that he learns in his agriculture class.

The following Vocational Agriculture students under the supervision of Mr. H. W. Stinson are entered in the contest:

Elwood Huernerberg, Leonard Rascher, James Christopherson, Leonard Nerge, John Saunders, Kenneth Shorleder, Marvin Moching, Dale Werdebaugh, Elmer Meyer, Herbert Plote, Clarence Hagenow.

Cash awards will be made in each of the 20 agriculture sections of the state and the boy who obtains the highest corn yield in the state will receive a fine watch. Sectional winners will receive cash awards for first, second and third for a total of $900.00 in cash awards in Illinois in addition to the watch awarded to the state yield champion. Each boy who complies with the rules of the contest and makes a weighed yield test will receive a knife as a gift from the company.

Spring beet mechanization good

Labor saving of about 20%, and stand reduction of 15 to 25%, has resulted from use of stand-reducing implements in beet fields of the Saginaw area, according to P. A. Reeve, agricultural supervisor of the Farmers & Manufacturers Beet Sugar Ass'n.

Salt sprays on susceptible weeds also are finding a definite place in the spring beet mechanization program. Reeve declares: Fields have been saved by them that otherwise would have been lost. They have been most effective on fields heavily infested with mustard or smartweed. Other weeds controllable by salt spray are red root and ragweed.

Stand reducing implements used included finger-weeders, spike-tooth harrows, rotary hoes, rod weeders, and others. Their use not only saved on hand labor, Reeve says, but helped eliminate crusts and weeds and put the soil in better physical condition.

The 20% labor saving varies with field conditions, especially weed population.

Morrow plot proves use of aid

FAMED SOIL PLOTS. A familiar sight on the campus of the University of Illinois, Urbana, is the historic Morrow Plots, recognized as the oldest continuous soil experiment field in the United States. The plots were started in 1876 by George E. Morrow, professor of agriculture, "to show the effect of the rotation of crops, contrasted with continuous corn growing—with and without manuring, and also the effect of clover and grass in rotation."

Boundaries of the Morrow Plots, historic soil experiment field on the campus of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, have remained unchanged since 1876. But one of the six plots is 132 percent its original "productive size," reports Farm Adviser C. A. Hughes.

"Productive size" means the investment income—the amount of crop income remaining after labor, seed, harvesting, marketing and soil treatment costs are deducted.

The plot showing the high increase in productivity was treated with manure, lime and phosphate and has been in a rotation of corn, oats and clover.

ANOTHER PLOT has declined to 29 percent of its original "productive size" in the 72 years of cropping experiments. This plot has received no soil treatment and has been planted each year to corn.

C. A. Hughes says the information on crop yields and soil management on the plots is a valuable guide to farming programs in the county. He announced that the University would hold an open house on June 30 and July 1 and 2, with a daylong tour of the campus and farms, beginning at the Morrow Plots. At that time visitors will hear more of the story of the plots and what they mean to the agriculture of the state.

In analyzing the results on the Morrow Plots Dr. F. C. Bauer, professor of soil fertility, compares each of the six plots to a 100-acre farm, although in fact each plot is only a fraction of an acre in size. On this basis, the least efficiently operated farm has declined to 29 acres, and the one with soil treatment and beneficial rotation has grown to 132 acres.

ALL OF THE "farms" with cropping systems lacking legumes have declined in productivity. These include continuous corn with no soil treatment (29 acres); corn and oats with no soil treatment (62 acres); continuous corn with soil treatment (manure, lime phosphate (71 acres).

After 44 years of cropping, the "farm" on which fertilizers were not applied but on which the rotation included a legume crop (corn, oats, red clover) remains exactly the same size (or equally as productive) as in the base period.

Where soil treatment was combined with a two-year rotation of corn and oats, with a sweet clover catch crop, the size has increased to 118 acres. The sweet clover was planted with the oats and was not plowed up until the following spring when the ground was made ready for corn.

Wire screening in good repair keeps out flies

Proper care of insect wire screening means better protection against flies and mosquitoes. A five-point maintenance program recommended by screening manufacturers will give you maximum service from your screens.

First, say the experts, clean screens frequently. A soft-bristled brush will do, but the dusting attachment of a vacuum cleaner is quicker, and easier to use.

Second, repair small holes by placing readymade patches over the openings. These are available at hardware and five-and-ten cent stores, and are fitted with tiny hooks which grip the surrounding mesh. Two or three coats of light varnish make the patch unnoticeable. Really large holes can be temporarily repaired by cutting a piece of metal screening one-half inch larger than the opening. Remove cross wires around the patch to form a fringe. Bend the fringed ends down so the wires will slip through the remaining mesh. Pinch the fringe tightly against the screen to anchor the patch in place.

THIRD, WIPE screens with benzene and give them a rust-inhibiting coat of varnish, thinned with turpentine and linseed oil to prevent the mesh openings from clogging.

Fourth, use a residual insecticide on screens and around the door frames, garbage cans and other spots favored by the insect pests. Areas exposed to sunlight will need several sprayings a summer. Follow the manufacturer's directions exactly in using insecticides.

Fifth, check screen frames to make sure they fit snugly and are not warped.

Questions on G. I. bill

Question — My son was killed in the Pacific theatre of war and his body is buried in a military cemetery. Recently I was approached by a man who says he is a representative of a firm which takes care of the graves of American war dead and wants me to pay a small amount of money if I wish his firm to take care of my son's grave. Should I make this payment?

Answer — No. The federal government maintains perpetual care of American cemeteries. Recently racketeers have prevailed upon the relatives of war dead to make such payments for care never given and report all information about him to police authorities.

Question — While in the service my right foot was badly injured and it is very painful if I wear regular shoes; so I have had to wear a slipper on the foot because the specially built shoes are so expensive. Could I possibly get a pair of these fitted shoes from the government?

Answer — Yes, the federal government now provides orthopedic shoes for veterans with service-connected foot disabilities. Information on how to apply for these special shoes can be obtained from your Veterans Administration representative.

Question — May I obtain a GI loan while I draw subsistence as a student?

Answer — Yes, you may obtain a loan at the same time you are drawing subsistence. You will have to satisfy the Veterans Administration and your
